

Daly City Launches First Census in Seven Years

Daly City's first general census in more than seven years is well under way today with 76 "enumerators" pounding the pavement, ringing doorbells and asking householders a variety of questions.

For the most part, the questions are aimed at giving planners an insight into the future needs of the city.

Coupled with the General Plan, also presently being drafted, the census will provide valuable information to planners.

The general census figure will also be used to figure gas tax revenues for Daly City.

Census supervisor Lara Kvick, a veteran of 18 such projects during the past three years throughout the state, estimated the city's population would likely jump from the 1960 figure of 44,791 (the last time an official census was taken) to more than 64,000.

An estimated census figure of 60,500 was arrived at in 1960 for tax purposes, however, no physical census has been conducted since.

"This is a fantastic increase in population, especially when compared with the 1950 figure of 15,191. It clearly indicates just how fast Daly City is growing," Mrs. Kvick said.

Census takers can be easily identified by sign tags displayed on their clothing.

All residents have been urged to co-operate with the census takers by city manager Edward Frank.

If a person is not at home when the enumerator calls, a tag is left on the door. Householders are asked to call their respective census taker as soon as possible.

"When we have to call on a home more than once it costs the city more money," Mrs. Kvick explained. "That's why we asked the householder to make a simple phone call at their earliest possible convenience."

There are 12 census "tracts" in Daly City and each census taker is assigned to poll between 300-500 homes within a specified tract.

Questions range from age and sex of residents to where the head of the household lived five years ago.

The census taker asks a question and then punches out a small data card as each question is answered. The card, in turn, is later fed into an automated unit for compiling of information.

Each applicant for the job was given a series of tests to determine their qualifications. Of the more than 110 applicants, only 76 were finally selected.

"If everything continues as smoothly as it has in the first few days of the census taking, we should be finished on November 20," Mrs. Kvick said.

THE POST

NORTH COUNTY EDITION

Wednesday, November 8, 1967 DELIVERED EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING Vol. 21, No. 45

Mrs. Shirley Temple Black For Congress

EDITORIAL

THE POST usually refrains from making editorial endorsements in a primary election. However, in the current, hotly contested congressional campaign there are so many candidates, none of whom have state or national legislative experience, and most of whom have no experience as elected officials, that we are departing from established precedent and offer our view as to the most qualified candidate.

We endorse, without reservation, the candidacy of Mrs. Shirley Temple Black for congress from this district. We have not overlooked other candidates, some of whom we could support if nominated, but at this stage of the campaign we recommend Mrs. Black as most qualified.

Mrs. Black is a woman of good and mature judgment and has demonstrated this by refusing to be drawn from her announced positions into some of the questionable political expedients that have marked the campaign. She is a lady in the best sense of the word and has so conducted herself.

Her services for such charitable and worthwhile causes as the National Multiple Sclerosis Society, the governing board of KQED-TV, and the State Advisory Hospital Commission, are well known. She holds the coveted John Swett award for contributions to education in California. She showed herself to be a leader of high principles when she withdrew from the San Francisco International Film Festival to demonstrate her contempt and hatred of pornography.

Beyond all this, she stands for what this county needs and wants from its representative in congress; the qualities of honesty, rectitude, sincerity and helpfulness.

It amuses us to see Mrs. Black's detractors seek to disqualify her because she is a lady, or was once a child movie star, or because she has no demonstrated political experience. Senator Margaret Chase Smith, Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest, and 11 current women members of congress, among others, have more than shown that successful public service is not the exclusive prerogative of the male sex. Mrs. Black's early fame as Shirley Temple, the child movie star, is irrelevant except to identify her with instant recognition locally and national; and this national recognition is bound to aid rather than hamper her efforts as Congresswoman from this district.

As for political experience, we observe that the late Congressman J. Arthur Younger had no political experience before he was elected to congress, and that none of the other candidates except one who is a city councilman, and another who is a law enforcement officer, has ever held political office of any consequence.

Mrs. Shirley Temple Black has proved herself a forthright and honest candidate willing to stand upon her own merit and eschew appeals that might compromise her integrity as a loyal American. We hope that she will win and place her principles and talents at the service of San Mateo County.

Stepped-up Co-ordination For Schools

By WILL THOMAS

"We on the high school level are building a second floor in the total education picture of the youngster ... If we are to build a good second floor, we must know there is a sound foundation at the first floor."

This was Daly City's Edward Morgan speaking Monday night at a joint meeting of his own Jefferson High School District Board of Trustees and the members of the Jefferson Elementary School Board.

The veteran educator, who has little trouble finding words to describe an educational situation was summing, in so many words, the role of the high school in following up, smoothing off the rough edges of pupils moving up from elementary to high schools.

Morgan likened the high school's importance in building the student to construction after members of the two boards hashed thoroughly the importance of articulation — continuity of inter-district communication, formulation of dovetailing curricula, coordination of stu-

D.C. CENSUS UNDERWAY — A house to house census is well underway in Daly City, planner Edward Lawson announced this week. Three Sets Of Detailed Plans Given

By FRANK LAPIERRE

The Bay Area Rapid Transit District (BARTD) has submitted three separate detailed plans for its proposed Daly City terminus station to the city staff for consideration.

The plans, simply labeled "P", "Q" and "R", offer different station designs and surrounding traffic patterns, and were drafted over a period of two years.

Most economical of the plans offered is the "P" design — an elevated track bed and station with multi-storied parking facilities.

The noise factor, coupled with what some city officials feel would not be an "esthetically practical design" for the area have all but ruled this plan out.

What the city staff has recommended is the "Q" design.

Two-County Transit Link Seen

By VIRGIL WILSON

San Mateo County transit planners may have found an ally Monday — San Francisco.

The possibility of the West Bay Rapid Transit Authority and San Francisco going together on planning and developing a transit line between downtown San Francisco and International Airport was discussed with some optimism at a meeting of the West Bay Board in Redwood City.

Bruce Woelfel, director of a transportation plan project for the San Francisco Department of City Planning, told West Bay directors that San Francisco officials are giving priority to the airport line, which would include a tunnel extension between the Southern Pacific depot at Third and Townsend and a new transit hub at Second and Market. On the other end of the line a spur track would run from the SP line into the heart of the airport.

Except for the airport spur, the San Francisco plan is the same as one of the alternate proposals being studied by West Bay.

"It certainly would be a duplication of effort if we both went ahead with our planning," County Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald said. "It seems a joint approach is completely necessary."

West Bay members told Woelfel that their study of the proposal had been snagged by Southern Pacific's refusal to co-operate. SP has informed the agency that it will not allow its right of way to be used for transit purposes and does not want a public subsidy of any kind. Part of the proposal would be to modernize SP equipment.

'Super' Road Is Protested

South San Francisco councilmen drafted strongly worded letter of protest to the Association of Bay Area Governments Monday in reaction to a preliminary ABAG plan which would route a "super freeway" through the city's industrial park area.

Mayor Patrick Ahern and members of the council also criticized the regional planning group for failing to consult South San Francisco Planner Daniel Pass in preparing the preliminary plan.

"Apparently somebody over in the East Bay is just drawing lines on a map," Ahern said, "and not even putting forth the effort to conduct an economic feasibility study."

"This proposed highway would mean certain disaster for the city of South San Francisco," he said, "and the people who prepared the preliminary plan obviously had no inkling of conditions here."

The "preliminary regional plan" drafted by ABAG calls for an above-ground freeway along the Bayshore through South San Francisco, then an underground route beneath the San Francisco International Airport area.

"If this thing were ever built, we would certainly demand that it either be placed underground or rerouted through our city," Ahern said.

The ABAG plan is a long-term projection, and highly tentative, councilmen noted, and will undoubtedly be revised extensively.

Parking Hearing Set Over Again By SSF Council

By DON GRIERSON

Public hearing on a proposal to ban on-street parking in the Industrial Park area of South San Francisco was postponed again Monday because of a pending report on the parking situation from Police Chief John Fabbri.

The city's Industrial Park Association has requested the parking ban, but several firms in the area have voiced opposition to the proposal, according to city officials.

Another hearing on a related item, an ordinance amendment to implement the proposed parking regulation revisions, was also postponed.

In other business, councilmen adopted a resolution authorizing an agreement for a use permit for a service station in the Westborough Community.

The use permit will be subject to terms of an extensive escrow arrangement between the city and Caesar-Callan Homes, Inc., developers of the planned community.

The council also issued a "revocable permit" to the Brentwood Orthodox Presbyterian Church for a small directional sign to be placed at the northwest corner of Country Club Drive and El Camino Real.

The sign will be placed on the city's right-of-way near a similar sign installed by another church in the area.

Councilmen also announced at the meeting that a petition for stop sign at the intersection of Brentwood Drive and Springwood Way has been denied upon the recommendation of Police Chief Fabbri.

Fabbri reported that a study of traffic in the area indicates a stop sign would be inappropriate at the corner.

In place of the sign, he recommended that a large tree be removed from the area to improve visibility, and said his department has instigated "selective enforcement" of traffic laws in the neighborhood of the intersection.

Jeff Survey Of Buildings Is Under Way

A survey of all buildings and facilities within those buildings is being conducted by the Jefferson Elementary School District in Daly City, District Supt. Frank Greenwood disclosed Monday, because "for all intents and purposes" the district has reached "saturation."

Stymied in further construction by a lack of new homes and apartments the last two years, the district has exhausted its space allocation eligibility under the state building program, Greenwood said.

The Savage Intermediate School construction project was halted immediately after site preparation as a result.

The report now underway would show all present and potential programs, which recommendations on how to accommodate them, Greenwood said.

Whether expansion of existing

DC Council Studies BART Station Plans

This plan would cost some $3 million more than either plan P or R. (The latter an open cut 25 feet below surface levels.)

Regardless of what design BART and Daly City finally agree upon for the lead-in tracks and station itself, the major problem confronting them is traffic flow in the area — now and in the future.

According to figures supplied to city planner Edward Lawson, streets leading into and leaving the station would be at capacity by 1975 "and impossibly jammed by 1990."

Parking facilities at the station would be expanded as the need arises, from the original 950 spaces (under plan Q).

The plans offered the city this week for study and comments differ from those made two years ago.

In 1965, BART's plans included construction of a storage track and maintenance yard adjacent to the area.

The maintenance facility has been scrapped and the storage tracks have been limited to three, including the main rights-of-way.

City planner Lawson said the plans were the "first clear-cut analysis of all aspects of the station" proposed for Daly City.

However, city officials have expressed dissatisfaction with BART's plans for traffic in the area and refuse to "officially" enter into any agreement, or even discussion on the matter, until BART agrees to meet a seven-point program concerning outstanding problems centering around construction of the station.

Although BART does not require approval of station plans by Daly City, the city has an "ace in the hole."

"We can refuse to close down certain streets," Lawson told a study session of the city council Monday. He indicated BART could seek legal recourse to such action, but this would tend to delay completion of the project for about one year.

Councilman Frank Paccelli said he wanted to "make it perfectly clear Daly City is for BART... I think it's a wonderful thing... and we certainly do not want to create any impediments for them."

"What we want is to insure that the station is esthetically acceptable and the surrounding traffic patterns conform to future land uses in the area," Paccelli said.

Traffic congestion expected to be generated by the station must be solved before any agreement with BART can be reached, Mayor Bernard Lyett said.

Joint Planning Of Transit Link Seen

Woelfel replied that having San Francisco in the picture "would add another voice." He suggested the possibility of the two counties bringing "economic pressure" to bear on SP but did not say how it would be done.

Woelfel told the San Mateo County officials that his department is considering recommending a bond issue for next November to provide a modern muni railway system to operate in conjunction with the Bay Area Rapid Transit system. The cost of extending the SP line to the Market Street hub could conceivably be included in the bond proposal, he said.

In studying the proposal of a modernized SP service, one of several plans being considered, West Bay officials have been worried about how San Mateo County funds could be used for capital improvements in San Francisco. A joint program with San Francisco could answer that problem, Woelfel pointed out.

"This is the most encouraging

Lyett instructed the staff to investigate the possibility of BART's financial participation in the traffic matter.

information we have received for many months," Fitzgerald commented.

Supervisor William M. Werder called the meeting a "bright spot" in the planning process and said it was the "first offer of a hand we have had."

Glen Ireland, representing the Governmental Research Council and County Development Association, told the board that "if San Francisco gets serious about this, it could be the best solution."

Mayor William Lawson of Menlo Park, West Bay chairman, warned that "we still have to deal with SP and we have a time problem." West Bay is scheduled to decide on one of the alternate plans next summer and Lawson said he doubted that San Francisco could have its plans jelled by that time. Woelfel, however, said he expected that the San Francisco Planning Commission would make a recommendation within two months.

West Bay directors asked General Manager John Lilly to intensify joint planning with San Francisco, as well as Santa Clara County.

School 'Articulation' Studied

ment records; "meetings of minds" among teachers and administrators at both levels. Primarily, trustees wanted to know how well the two districts were advancing along these lines.

It's "good," but "could be better," was the common attitude.

Not that it's "bad" through intent or neglect. It's mostly because changes in concept — new innovations, such as the new math, pending English alterations and revised science instruction — require continuous coordination, unending communication between the two levels of Daly City (and Pacifica, in the case of the high school district) education, it was asserted.

Jefferson Elementary's associate superintendent for instruction, Dr. Vinton Stratton, said articulation could be "easier, if we were a unified school district."

The "avenues could be more easily traveled," he said though presently there exists an "opening and re-opening of avenues of communication" between the districts.

An approach "more than smodic" is necessary, Dr. Stratton pointed out.

Though the attempts "have been good attempts," Dr. Stratton admitted that perhaps there has been insufficient follow-up on each side.

Dr. Harold Tonini, Jeff High's assistant superintendent for instruction, vowed the high school district was going to "do everything it can" to improve articulation.

He said that "many things" being carried on in the elementary system "have implications" for the Jefferson High District.

The Jeff High District absorbs students from a number of Jefferson Elementary schools, in addition to those from Bayshore and Brisbane districts, it was pointed out.

Jeff Elementary District Supt. Frank Greenwood explained that any lack of articulation hasn't been from "lack of will on either party," but primarily because of personnel changes.

Morgan commended the elementary district staff, noting that the two districts are "drawing closer together," which he said, leads to better education for the children.

Glenn South, now in the high school district offices, spoke highly of the cooperation he received from Ben Franklin junior high school staff members when he was Westmoor High principal.

He recalled the teacher-to-teacher and administrator-to-administrator cooperation in working out a sequenced program that drew together Westmoor and Ben Franklin Schools.

"I could go on and on in each discipline (subject)," South said. "It was an excellent relationship."

Is there a chance the same type of articulation could be achieved with Bayshore and Brisbane elementary districts? "Yes," answered Morgan, who said contact had been made for that purpose.

New Building Still Climbs In San Bruno

New building in San Bruno continued to increase last month, with permits issued for construction and alterations totaling $193,370.

The October total brought total building for the first ten months of the year to $9,770,480, nearly three times the amount for the first ten months of 1966, when permits totaled $3,484,248. During October, 1966, permits issued totaled $69,352.

Construction last month included two new homes, $46,400; one non-residential project, $107,400; 22 residential alterations, $38,820; one commercial alteration, $750.

Arm Caught In a Belt

A South San Francisco drug store employee narrowly escaped serious injury this week when his arm was caught up in a conveyor belt.

Quick action on the part of an unidentified female employee of the store was credited with saving Danny Wyse, 18, of 850 Antoinette Lane, from serious injury.

The woman saw Wyse fall into the machine and threw a switch, cutting off power to the conveyor belt.

Fire department rescuers had to pry Wyse's arm out of the belt.

Brunan Is Held After Officer Hit

A young San Bruno man was arrested Monday on a charge of assaulting a police officer in connection with an incident which occurred during a "disturbance" last week at the City Park.

Craig B. Malone, 2370 Toyon Way, was arrested in the downtown area Monday by off-duty policeman Thomas Mathers.

Malone is charged with striking officer Gary D. Krueger after he was taken into custody at the park last Thursday.

Police said the youth struck Krueger in the mouth as the officer talked into a two-way radio microphone. Two of Krueger's teeth were broken.

After striking the officer, Malone leaped from the patrol car and escaped into a wooded area adjacent to the park, police said.

Officer Krueger was dispatched to the park after a resident of the area reported a fight was in progress on Crystal Springs Road. Krueger said Malone and three other men were fighting in the street when he arrived at the park.

Malone was scheduled to be arraigned in North County Municipal Court today on the assault charge.

Jeff Elementary Building Survey

(Continued From Page 1) sites or acquisition of others is more feasible will have to be determined, he said.

Under current building trends, the district can expect to fall back in its building space allotments, he said.

Greenwood explained that when money became tight about 18 months ago, construction fell off with only about 336 new homes and apartments built since.

This compares, he noted, with the requirement for 1,800 homes to qualify the district for additional facility construction.

Jefferson High District superintendent, Ed Morgan, said his district's trustees have embarked upon an "exhausting schedule" between now and December 18 to act upon a recent University of California report (coupled with alternatives and recommendations) on "school boundaries and racial separation," the Pengate School site, and whether or not the district will remain in the state building program.

(The district has set aside November 13 as a minimum school day so that each school principal might conduct an in-service program to discuss in detail the various ramifications of the UC Field Service report.)

Morgan disclosed the board was to meet Tuesday to discuss state building program involvement and that a decision might be made by trustees November 27.

Potential new boundary alignment in the high school district will require "very close liaison" with the elementary unit, it was asserted.

In the case of the Savage School — which Morgan suggested "would be built some day" — its boundaries should be correlated with that of the high school district, today, inasmuch as it would be a feeder to the Serramonte High School, presently under construction and "on schedule," Morgan pointed out.

"We don't want to have to undo the boundaries," Morgan declared.

Elementary trustees were urged to review the University of California report and "make your feeling known."

Superintendent Greenwood said he hoped his trustees would do just that — but that as yet they haven't discussed the report.

Greenwood also noted that there would not be unanimous acceptance by the community of whatever boundaries the high school board directs.

"Misery likes company," Morgan grinned, "and we would like company."

'Pot' Count Against San Bruno Man

Belmont police arrested a San Bruno man and a Redwood City housewife late last week, finding two paper bags of what looked like marijuana in their car and a knife with a three-inch blade in her possession.

Officer Joe Pierucci and Sgt. Mike Troy first saw the couple at 1:30 a.m. when their east-bound car ran the flashing red light at Ralston Avenue and Alameda de las Pulgas, they said.

The car was stopped at Ralston and South Road, where the driver, identified as Harry LeRoy, 22, 2500 Rosewood Avenue, San Bruno, a baker, reportedly became irate and when arrested on the traffic violation, became belligerent and had to be subdued and handcuffed, officers said.

Daly City Police Get Set For Hallowe'en

Halloween Is Quiet In Daly City

Halloween passed quietly last Tuesday in Daly City.

There was the usual smattering of egg-tossing and shaving cream incidents, a few garbage cans kicked over and isolated cursing of passing police officers, but nothing as compared to last year when more than 400 youths went on a rampage near the Westlake Shopping Center.

Measures had been taken by police officials to insure against any repeat of last year's violent encounter with a handful of police, in which the law officers came out second best.

Last week, regular police and reserve forces — 42 in all — were formed into "saturation patrols" and assigned to comb every section of the city and "keep the crowds moving."

And that's just what the police did. Each time a patrol car, manned by two officers, came upon a group of youths they would stop, ask questions and conduct an on-the-spot search for eggs, shaving cream or similar "Halloween Toys," as police sergeant Ralph Warren called the potential missiles.

One youth was preparing to toss a bottle of hair remover when police nabbed him. He was reprimanded and released, while the bottle was confiscated.

Another "brave" teenager, when asked to move along, threw an egg at officer Dennis Cosgrove, before fleeing into the darkness between a row of apartment buildings.

Officers had been earlier instructed to "use whatever force necessary" to prevent vandalism in the community.

"We don't want a recurrence of what happened last year. Don't take any unnecessary nonsense from anyone, but don't abuse your status," Captain Hansen told the assembled officers before assigning them to squads.

On several occasions, groups of youths began forming around the Westlake Shopping Center area shortly after 8 p.m., but police units moved immediately ordered them to "move on."

Captain Dave Hansen said the system, held in conjunction with a number of dances at local elementary, high school and the War Memorial Building, "worked out just fine, judging by the small number of arrests."

The situation was about the same throughout the North County.

In South San Francisco police attributed the ransacking of a house to vandals.

Police arrested a total of five youths — two for possession of marijuana.

FINAL SPOT CHECK — Daly City police squads give their patrol cars a last minute check before leaving for their assigned areas. As a special "Halloween precaution" all cars carried two officers. Some 18 patrol cars, backed by reserve force cars, were assigned to patrol the city during the night. Squad leaders insured that all vehicles carried flares, riot sticks, first aid kits, blankets and related police control equipment. Several officers were armed with the new "MACE" tear gas cans.

Mother And Four Driven Out By Fire

A smokey fire drove a South San Francisco mother and her four children into the street shortly after 1 p.m. Friday.

No one was injured in the blaze which gutted an adjoining garage, destroying furniture stored there and causing some $6,000 damage.

Mrs. Adrienne Patton said she was staying in the home, owned by her parents at 4 Del Paso Drive, with her small children, while her parents were vacationing in Hawaii.

The fire was reported by an unidentified neighbor who noticed smoke pouring from the garage.

Miss Bacon Sizzles Over Scrambled Eggs

Eggs don't always go with bacon—especially on Hallowe'en.

Daly City police Friday received a malicious mischief report from an irate citizen complaining her home at 14 Montclair Avenue had been the target of some half-dozen eggs hurled by teen-agers the previous night.

The belated report was submitted by Miss Betty Bacon.

TABLE ACCESSORIES

In recent years, a great deal of attention had been given to wall accessories, but not enough attention has been paid to equally important table accessories. And nothing will do more to give your home the "decorator look" than properly selected table accessories.

Aside from the usual decorative ash-trays and candy dishes, a whole new world of table accessories are now available in furniture and decorating shops.

Artificial fruits, flowers and plants are still extremely popular but the number of different items suitable for table decor is only limited by your imagination.

The first rule, of course, is to avoid the "cluttered look" and not use too many items on your tables. After all, you want to avoid making your home look like a "gift shop."

Here are two ideas: If you have more items than you can use at one time, use fewer pieces, and then change them around frequently. And, in using table decor make certain the colors of the items blend with everything else in the room.

Mother Saves Child From Blazing Room

A 24-year-old Pacifica mother Thursday braved intense heat, flame and thick smoke to snatch her 14-month-old, badly burned son from his fire-engulfed bedroom at 306 Clifton Drive.

The child, Russell Armstrong, reported by a Mary's Help Hospital spokesman to be in "critical condition," suffered second and third degree burns to his face and hands in the 12:37 a.m. blaze.

Mother Burned

His mother, Mrs. Joyce Armstrong, was admitted to the hospital for treatment of second degree burns of the hands and for smoke inhalation.

Pacifica authorities said Mrs. Armstrong, whose husband, Stacey, was at work in Emeryville, awakened to find her son's rear bedroom afire.

She dashed first to telephone the Pacifica Police Department, telling the dispatcher there that her baby's bedroom was burning and she was unable to get to it.

Both police and fire units from the Edgemar District's Central station and the Fairmont station responded within minutes.

By the time they reached the Edgemar district two-bedroom wood frame residence, Mrs. Armstrong already had disregarded heat, flame and smoke to get to her child.

She was standing outside the home, holding the boy in her arms when firemen arrived.

"I can't impress upon you exactly how it felt to see the baby outside, even though he was hurt," a fire department official said.

"It was a real relief," he explained.

The firemen, racing bumper-to-bumper with police squad cars to the scene, pin-pointed the blaze from three blocks away, as flames shot skyward from the rear bedroom.

Engulfed When firemen reached the scene, they found the child's bedroom — which adjoined that in which his mother had been sleeping a short time before discovering the fire — completely engulfed.

So was the hallway outside both bedrooms. Furnishings in the child's southeast corner bedroom, and in the hallway, were destroyed. The flames burned out from the back bedroom to the hall, then extended to portions of the mother's bedroom and the living room.

Two firemen were injured while combatting the blaze.

Capt. James Evans was treated for smoke inhalation, while another fireman suffered a scalp cut when hit by a piece of metal.

Valet Parking Plan Changed

A change in Valet Parking delivery service at San Francisco International Airport was announced last Friday by George Hansen, airport general manager.

"Starting today, all Valet Parking deliveries will be made from a central point midway between the South and Central Terminal buildings," he said. "Access from each terminal building is via the connecting South Concourse to a stairway leading down to the cashier's booth. Cars will be brought to that area for delivery."

"This change is being made in the interest of providing greater convenience to the majority of Valet Parking customers," Hansen said, "and it also will provide more efficient use of our close-in areas."

Valet Parking delivery booths which in the past have been at the westerly end of the South Terminal building, and at the northerly end of the Central Terminal building will be abolished.

Printed notices have been given to all valet patrons for the last month to inform them of the change.

University Women Plan PACE Tour

Program chairman Mrs. Robert L. Macey and education chairman Mrs. Urban G. Whitaker, American Association of University Women, will tour the PACE ID Center in South San Francisco on Friday.

They will be accompanied by Dr. Roger W. Chapman, newly appointed executive director of the PACE program, who will be the speaker at AAUW's general meeting November 20 at 8:30 in the San Bruno Public Library auditorium.

The meeting is open to the public and will feature a movie about projects for the Advancement of Creativity in Education.

Mrs. Whitaker, who is in charge of the meeting, urged interested parents and educators to attend.

"We feel that a large portion of the people in San Mateo County are 'in the dark' about PACE," she said.

"We hope our meeting will focus the light on the many exciting educational pilot projects based on years of research in the field which PACE is testing and evaluating to the benefit of our children."

Dr. Chapman organized and served as executive director of the PI Supplementary Education Center in Stockton last year.

Prior to that, he was an administrator in the Modesto City Schools.

A graduate of Washington State University, Dr. Chapman has been a classroom teacher, public school administrator and college instructor in the state of Washington.

He now resides in Menlo Park.

Following the PACE program, AAUW will have a used book sale for the benefit of fellowships.

Newlyweds Make Home In Millbrae

Dianne Sailor and Charles W. Coffey recited their marriage vows in a recent ceremony in Carson City, Nev., before the Hon. Pete Supera, justice of the peace.

Dianne, the daughter of Mrs. Russell Sailor, wore a black and white wool dress with a black mink pill box hat. She carried a small bouquet of white roses surrounded by white carnations.

The couple was honored at the home of the bride's mother in San Bruno after their honeymoon at the South Shore of Lake Tahoe. They will live in Millbrae.

The new matron graduated from Capuchino High School and has been employed in Burlingame. She is the sister of James Tremont and Danny Sailor.

Her husband's high school was Mills, and he is employed in San Francisco. The son of Mr. and Mrs. George Coffey of Millbrae, he is the brother of Gwen, Shirley, Kathy and Leroy Coffey and Mrs. Alemta Gomes.

DC Brownie Troops Are Rededicated

Abraham Lincoln Brownie Troop 1704, under leadership of Mrs. E. P. Hughes, invested Marie Lynn Anderson, Peggy Anderson, Lynn Goldfinger, Suzanne Karp, Jamie Pereira, Stephanie Schoenbrod, Cathy Winters and Janis Kexoleas.

Brownies who rededicated themselves were Kimberly Gustafson, Stephanie Karp, Stephanie Konstan, Sandy Leopold, Leanna Medina, Leah Peters, Nancy Stoddard, Denise Stokes, Ellen Tenud, Julie Wilson, Linda Yerby and Jackie Zanardi.

The troop visited Josephine Randall, Jr. Museum in San Francisco and are starting four weeks of bowling lessons at Serra Bowl.

A large candle, to represent the promise, and 10 smaller candles for the laws, were focal point of the rededication of Junior troop 442, at Vista Grande.

This ceremony climaxed a joint meeting of Brownie Troop 736 "flying-up" to their junior troop.

The Brownies who are now Junior Scouts are Terry Aumen, Tanya Bickham, Janice Chan, Julie Perez and Ingrid Schroeder.

Troop 442 is led by Mrs. Bert Carlascio, assisted by Mrs. Florence Dale. Mrs. James Morino and Mrs. Eugene Golden led troop 736.

Both troops were shown slides of Cadette Troop 8's tour of Washington, D.C. and the United Nations in New York.

Mrs. Eugene Crandall has taken a minimum of time away from her circle duties, despite the fact that her daughter, Carolyn Ann, was married October 28 to Alan Travis Butler in rites performed in the Our Lady of Mercy Church. According to Westlake's Mrs. Anthony Formosa, publicity chairman for the Guild interesting items have been gathered for the sale. The combination of wit, enthusiasm, delicious hors d'oeuvres, refreshing cocktails and a congenial atmosphere should provide for an entertaining afternoon.

Mrs. Formosa emphasized that the public will be welcome.

You WILL have a voice in Congress with Roy Archibald

When ROY ARCHIBALD was elected to San Mateo City Council in 1957 the municipal property tax rate was $1.22. Today, this has been cut to 81½¢. San Mateo has successfully broadened its municipal tax rate—today, about ONE-FOURTH (22.8 per cent) of all local tax revenues come from sources OTHER than the local property tax!

San Mateo City spends MORE for Police and Fire ($29 per capita) than the median for 24 other cities in a recent study of efficiency in local government (San Mateo Times news story, September 14, 1967).

San Mateo has a bonded indebtedness of only $93 per capita—16 per cent of total bonding capacity as a result of prudent fiscal properties in local San Mateo City government.

ROY ARCHIBALD IS THE ONLY CANDIDATE

Homecoming Over, Talent Show Slated

The second annual homecoming festivities at Westmoor High School were October 29 amid excitement generated by a full day of activities — Pre-game rally, a game against Half Moon Bay, half-time ceremonies, and a semi-formal ball honoring the queen and her court were the day's events.

The closing moments of the pre-game rally were devoted to the announcement of the queen and her court.

Of the 16 candidates, five were chosen through a student body election. Karen Viviani, freshman princess; Lynette Pierce, sophomore princess; Janet Agar, junior princess; and Margie Long, senior princess made up the selected court.

Tense moments were experienced by the three remaining senior candidates as Scott Bjorkquist, student body president, delayed the announcement of the queen's name.

Triumphant in a close election, senior Mary Regal donned the green velvet cape and was presented with a dozen long stemmed red roses. Miss Regal is active in all senior class affairs.

She is head cheerleader and was selected for Girls State last year.

Senior princess Margie Long is presently layout editor of the Rambler, Westmoor High yearbook, and is the only candidate nominated for a second time.

Janet Agar, the junior selection, is active in junior class affairs.

Honored as sophomore princess, Lynette Pierce, participates in the Future Business Leaders of America.

Karen Viviani, freshman princess, is currently participating in the Girls' Athletic Association and was a pompon girl at Ben Franklin last year.

Half-time ceremonies commenced with a program from the marching band under the direction of drum major Collins Orton. Majorettes Karen Jones and Nancy Rain performed to "Music to Watch Girls By" and the band then followed with the Westmoor Fight Song.

A procession of floats, led by the flower-bedecked senior float, circled the football field. Gold accents and a "Seniors 1968" sign completed the scheme. Following was the junior float, a green and white striped open convertible with a mock football atop the rear. The queen's float was decorated with a gold arch and a crown with green and white accents. The sophomore float was a flatbed carrying the throne against a huge "W" and was appropriately tagged "70's Sweetheart." The freshman float featured a ten-foot high ram standing in the midst of a rosebed. The princess rode atop the ram.

Coming to a halt at the rooster stands, the floats with their appointed royalty were saluted by the marching band playing "Hey Look Me Over."

The crowning took place amid a cheering throng, flashing cameras, and confetti. Miss Viviani was presented a jeweled tiara by Howard Keplan, frosh class president.

A similar tiara presented by Rick Giusti, was donned by Miss Pierce. Miss Agar was crowned by senior Rick Karp, followed by senior class president Don Weiden. Presentation to princess Margie Long.

The queen and her court then reascended their floats to be carried around the field among cheers and laughter.

Delighting in the festivities of the parade, over 100 small boys participated in the procession as they rode along with the queen and her court.

Honoring the Ram victory and the queen with her court, was the evening festivity, the Homecoming Dance.

Following the royal camelot theme with banners, shields, and regal thrones for the court, International Friendship Club provided decorations and entertainment for the cafeteria dance. Couples in semi-formal attire danced to the beat of "The Second Life."

MUSIC WILL BOUNCE off the bricked walls of Westmoor's Little Theater on November 14, right into the "bouncing audience" of students, parents and friends who have come to view the school's annual talent show.

Ticket sellers will be at the box office outside the Little Theater at 7 p.m. to sell $1 tickets. The show will begin at 7:30.

With folk music high on the popularity lists of teenagers, the talent show program will include three such acts. Healdsburg transfer Linda Ramsey has inveigled three of her former classmates to perform in a guitar-folk sing act. Jim Suddeth, who has performed in past talent shows, will sing folk songs; likewise, Sheila Burbow.

Another favorite singing guitar group "The Half-Notes," comprised of Peter Markovich, Marco Martinez, Phil Walker and Dirke Lyman, will perform.

Dance acts include "The Elegant Five" and "The Soul Brothers," both dance groups.

A jazz interpretative dance will be presented by Sylvia Walton while freshman Carol Borelli will do a tap dance. Dancing to music from "Thoroughly Modern Millie" in a flapper costume will be Heidi Barker, who is also singing in another act. Other singers include Marsha Summers and Brenda Wells, who is the stage band vocalist.

Instrumental numbers will include piano solos by Chita Surowiecky and Charlene Sigler and a guitar solo by Dirke

Lyman. Linda Bogatin and Linda Mattson will play on dual pianos selections from "Two Part Bach Inventions."

Masters of ceremony will be senior Rich Zimmermann and junior Mike Hinton, who is president of the Modern Music Masters.

The Tri M under its adviser, Howard Loeffler, is sponsoring the talent show.

Book Fair Slated By P-TA Council

Do you enjoy giving books to children as gifts?

Do you find it difficult to make selections appropriate to their ages and interests?

Help it at the Book Fair, sponsored by the Jefferson Council of P-TA's, on November 17 and 18, at 101 Lincoln Avenue, Daly City.

Timed for holiday giving, a selection of inexpensive paperback books and slightly more costly hardcover books will be on display between 10 a.m. and 8 p.m. on November 17, and again between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. on November 18, in the Jefferson Elementary School District office.

The paperbacks (35 to 60 cents) will be on sale, but the hardcover books must be ordered, with delivery guaranteed well before the holidays, according to Mrs. Clifford Lipsom, book fair chairman.

There will be creative and scientific games and toys on display to order.

Mrs. Lipsom said, "There will be a wide range of subject matter available, with the reading level indicated for each book, kindergarten through eighth grade."

Robert Muller, school district librarian, has assisted the committee in selecting the materials.

The Jefferson Council of P-TA's stressed that this is not a fund raising function but a service to the public. Everyone is welcome to come, browse a bit, and make your selections as desired.

THE LAWRENCE CROSSES (Dianne Kaufmann)

S.S.F. Girl Is Married

Dianne Kaufmann and Lawrence Roberts Cross exchanged marriage vows in a recent ceremony at Calvary Cross church with the Rev. Donald B. Shelly officiating.

Dianne, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Kaufmann of South San Francisco, wore a traditional floor-length gown of lace over taffeta with a tiered skirt, chapel train and fitted bodice detailed with sequins and seed pearls.

Suzanne Fahey of Santa Rosa served as maid of honor for Dianne with Mrs. Joseph Cerrito and Mrs. Edwin Sipi, her sisters, as bridesmaids.

Raymond Pridmore of Napa served as best man for Lawrence, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cross of Napa. Guests were seated by Robert Prossil of Napa, cousin of the bride, and Ronald McGuire of South San Francisco.

After a reception at the Lazy O Restaurant, the couple left for a wedding trip to Disneyland and Solvang. They will live in Napa.

The new matron is a graduate of Jefferson High School and Marinelli School of Beauty. Her husband is a graduate of St. Helena High School.

THE DAYTON ROSSES (Alethea Scarce)

Vows Exchanged

Joining the ranks of newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. Dayton P. Ross Jr. who were married recently at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church in San Bruno.

The bride is the former Alethea E. Scarce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester H. Scarce of Millbrae; the bridegroom is the son of the late Dayton P. Ross of Natick, Mass. The couple honeymooned in Natick and is at home in Marin County.

Alethea wore an ivory peau de lin dress trimmed at the bodice and on the edge of the train with Alencon lace. Cathy Watson, the sole attendant, wore a gold crepe Empire creation.

Thomas Grant of San Anselmo was the best man.

The ceremony was followed by a reception at St. Margaret's Room at the church.

The new matron has a sister, Lorinda Scarce of Santa Monica. She was graduated from Mills High School and is attending San Francisco State College. The bridegroom attended Natick High School and Boston University.

Shirley Is 'Corralled' At P-TA Roundup In DC

After speaking to a standing room only crowd at the Westlake Park Clubhouse last Friday, Congressional candidate Shirley Temple Black was "corralled" by the posse from the Olympia-Rivera P-TA Round-up and tried in the Kangaroo Court. The Round-up and Shirley's capture were part of the festivities of the fund-raising effort of the P-TA groups of the two Daly City schools.

After serving a short sentence in the "hoosegow," she visited with parents and discussed her position on various issues in the coming election.

John Fraher of 360 Glenwood Drive had Shirley autograph the cast on his arm, injured in a recent accident.

Next Friday at 8 p.m. Shirley will appear at the Sunshine Gardens School in South San Francisco.

TERRA NOVA TOPICS

Oh-Hum-Drum Days On Campus

Eventually, a former frustrated teen-age journalist will write a bible for the high school columnist. Title it "How To Make a Dead Week Live or What To Write When There's Nothing To Write." Wherever this journalistic messiah is, there is a great need for his guidance.

Basic reason for the dol-drum this week is the Quarter Exam epidemic on the TN campus. Quarantine on activities began yesterday with testing in social science, art, and industrial arts. English, math, and music exams are being given today. Tomorrow is the last day of testing in language, science, business, and Something loud, something new: The night rally held outdoors at TN last Friday before rooters buses left for the El Camino game.

Tiger tales goes through the presses this week. This year's first issue will go on sale next week with 32 pages of news, feature, sports, and editorials plus a colorful cover.

Tales staffers are also operating a news bureau this year to supply local newspapers with news of Terra Nova happenings.

Journalistic thought for the day: What becomes of washed-up high school columnists?

THE DAVID TANDYS (Pamela Fornesi)

San Bruno Home For D.A. Tandys

St. Robert's Catholic Church in San Bruno was the setting for the recent marriage of Pamela Marie Fornesi and David Alan Tandy. A reception followed in Morelas Hall.

The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aldo D. Fornesi of San Bruno, wore a floor-length gown of Chantres lace over peau de soie with a lace and velvet train.

Sandra Jeanne Fornesi was the honor attendant for her sister, with Mrs. Gary L. Tompkins, cousin of the bride; Julie Ann Cresta, and Carolyn Joan Higgins as bridesmaids. The flower girls were twin cousins of the bride, Sandra Lynn and Candice Anne Smith.

James Richard Tandy served as best man for his brother. Both are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Tandy of San Bruno.

The couple honeymooned in Southern California and returned to live in San Bruno.

The new matron attended Mercy and Capuchino High Schools and Pasadena Playhouse. Her husband graduated from Capuchino. Pamela is the sister of Valentino Carl Fornesi and Vincent de Paul Fornesi who were altar boys at the wedding.

Among the guests was Mrs.

'Successful' Teen Party

The Telstars Teen Club, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department, had a successful Halloween dance October 27.

Costume winners were Doug Dirks, dressed as a girl, and a Telstar beauty dressed as a Greek goddess. Also among the costumes were a cannibal, a big baby, a prisoner, a genie, the Munsters and a multitude of hippies. A very gala evening.

Use warm water when you are washing fresh spinach, Swiss chard or asparagus.

A DISPLAY of some of the items to be offered at the annual bazaar to be held by the Episcopal Church women of St. Martin's Church is coordinated by (left to right) Mrs. Charles Brinton, Mrs. Charles McCaffery, Mrs. William Moorhead and Mrs. Edward Berry. Bazaar will be held at church, 777 Southgate Avenue, Daly City, from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. November 18 (Post Photo)

JEFFERSON SCENE

Congress Candidate Talks to Students

Another busy week has passed. Report cards are coming soon, much to the dismay of many students, so there is a frantic rush to bring up some grades.

TA-DA!!!!!! The C's and D's basketball — 110's and 120's — defeated Oceana to clinch the NPL championship.

SEVERAL social science classes recently heard a speech by Paul N. McCloskey Jr., a Republican candidate for Congress. Eleventh Congressional District. His opinions include property taxes must be reduced, the least government is the best government, and there must be honesty in government. Concerning racial problems, he said that no one should be turned away from any public service or facility. His purpose was to introduce the students to his views.

FOR THE FIRST time Jefferson and Westmoor will join each other in a talent show, scheduled for December.

Kado Stewart, Jeff's commissioner of entertainment, took the idea to Westmoor. He felt that since Westmoor and Jeff compete in just about everything else, why not a talent show?

Rehearsals have begun.

THE SPEECH CLUB recently boarded a bus along with the Speech Club of Terra Nova and Westmoor for Berkeley. In the first round of Buotes From a Famous People, Dorothy Redmond placed second. In the third round (Abstract Words), Jo Long also won a second. While no one from Jeff made the finals they all felt that the trip was worthwhile. The Speech coaches, Mrs. DeAmicis and Miss Howard are confident that next time Jeff will return with more than just a plaque.

THE JUNIOR CLASS had a visitor from the Herff-Jones Jewelry Company recently. At this meeting the class decided to shatter tradition and order the oval rather than square rings.

They have also decided to sell sweat shirts for their class sale. Their dance will be in December. The name is — and catch this — "Sock it to Me Santa."

THE SECOND HOMECOMING QUEEN will be elected at the home football game against El Camino.

This tradition was started last year.

Each class nominates three girls. Two of the senior girls will be chosen by the football team, one to be queen; one, a princess. The girls from the other classes are for the ladies-in-waiting — one chosen from each class.

Nominees are: SENIORS: Denise Higuera, Liz Marcom, Isabel Rendon.

JUNIORS: Laurie Anderson, Stephanie Gonzales, Verdell Lovings.

SOPHOMORES: Debbie Brusa, Shirley Goins, Renalda Hackett.

FRESHMEN: Frances Bandalan, Denise Baswell, Carol Rey.

The Queen and her court will be presented to the student body on November 10, during half-time.

Jeff High Staging Of 'It' Slated

On November 16 and 17, at 8 p.m., in Room 507 the Fine Arts Department of Jefferson High will present "IT: AN Exploration in Awareness", an experimental theatre production staged by Mrs. John Mongan and Jeff Wentworth.

It is not a play, but a series of segments dealing with the concept of awareness. Its purpose is to make the audience sit up and take notice — not only of what young people are doing, but what the performers and the audience are experiencing. IT involves 150 Jefferson students, the largest cast to date.

IT includes such segments as If Men Played Cards as Women Do with Rich Rochettan, Ray Howard, Tom Witerhalter, and Rich Talavera; Living Sculpture with Wendy Woolery, Rich Ballerini, Aileen Flores, Nadine Marchetti, and Ray Howard; a light show by Larry Echeberry, Faustino Regino, John Cvetovac, Jerry Turner, and Wayne Higgins; Awareness Through Music featuring Nancy Martini singing "Maria", and an arrangement of "Broadway to Bach."

Mannequins with Melva Smith; Awareness through Avant Garde Drama with Norman Garcia and Wendy Woolery; Awareness through the Cinema, which is a film done by DeMartini with the help of many students; and Awareness through Speech with Leon Colvin, Dorothy Redmond, Jo Long, Rick Escana, Cindy Smallwood, and Madelyn Norman.

Assault of DC Youth Charged

Five San Mateo members of a Bay Area motorcycle club and another member from Sunnyvale beat a Daly City youth with a chain last Tuesday in San Francisco, police said.

Arrested for assault with a deadly weapon were: Delbert F. Oswald, 21, 1261 Ayala, Sunnyvale; Richard G. Colao, 19, 297 Lindbergh; Stephen P. Wagner, 18, 1628 Dix; Richard J. Venturini, 24, 1628 Dix; John A. Parish, 19, 404 North Kingston; and Robert Katz, 19, 1836 Maxine; all five are from San Mateo. All are members of the Executioners Motorcycle Club.

According to the police report, the victim, John D. Walton, 19, 108 Knowles, Daly City, suffered deep cuts about the face and scalp, at about 11:30 after five of the six suspects beat him with a chain and kicked him until he was covered with blood and in a semi-conscious state.

Walton, who had been attending a party at 34 North Delaware Street where the incident occurred, was taken by ambulance to County General Hospital where he was X-rayed and released.

Witnesses to the beating told officers that the five (Oswald was later cleared of being involved in the beating) apparently had had some kind of disagreement with Walton over the group's act of dumping a pile of garbage into some bushes outside of 34 North Delaware.

The six suspects were arrested minutes later after they had tried to flee the scene of the beating in a gold-colored auto-

Mrs. Bonzell and her two children, Kirk, 1½, and Eric, 3, were rushed to nearby Kaiser Hospital in South San Francisco by Bay Area Ambulance for examination and treatment of bruises before being released.

D.C. Youth Takes Purse

A 15-year-old Daly City youth was apprehended by a group of citizens within seconds after he snatched a purse from an elderly pedestrian in broad daylight Thursday morning at the corner of Hillcrest and Mission streets.

The victim, Henrietta Phillips, 80, of 55 Thirtieth Street, San Francisco, told police she was on her way to visit a friend when the youth ran up to her, grabbed her purse and dashed down the street.

Several witnesses to the purse snatch ran after the boy and caught him within a block of the incident.

Cancer Unit Volunteers

YEAR-AROUND education about cancer's warning signals is a vital part of the American Cancer Society program. Participating in a recent symposium for volunteers carrying the ACS message to the Daly City area are Mrs. Louis Giusti (left), education chairman of the Daly City ACS unit, and Mrs. James Ocampo, Daly City unit president. Funds to carry on the education program will be provided in part by the Orpheon Male Chorus December 8 Christmas concert benefit at San Mateo High School.

Thanksgiving Dinner Set

Hillcrest Circle of The Druids will hold their annual Thanksgiving dinner November 13 at The House of Parties in Daly City.

The dinner will begin at 8 p.m. before the meeting. Mrs. Grace Hill will serve as chairman and Mrs. Filomena Berit will preside over the meeting.

Members will bowl in the annual Druid "Guys and Dolls" tournament, buffet and dance to be held at Castle Lanes on November 18 sponsored by Green Valley Grove and San Bruno Circle.

Pastor Stram Europe-Bound

"The Greatest Drama the World Has Ever Seen," with Romans 13:14 as the text, is to be Walter Stram's 11 a.m. message on Sunday, at the Peninsula Church of Christ (Christian) in San Bruno, meeting at Angus Avenue at Masson.

From November 14 through December 5 Walter Stram is to make a 22-day tour of Europe and the Holy Land, visiting Athens, Jerusalem, Rome, Geneva, Paris, London, and many other places of interest. During his absence Pat Quilliam, assistant minister, a visiting speaker from San Jose Bible College, and Carl Zehrung, missionary from Alaska, will speak.

YW Plans Dessert-Coffee Program at Olympic Club

"Christmas ... and the Wise Men Four," produced and performed by an actress-singer and a composer-pianist, will entertain members and guests of the San Mateo County YWCA at a dessert-coffee on December 8, at 1 p.m. at the Olympic Lake-side Country Club on Skyline Boulevard.

The program features Peggy Keys' dramatic reading of the Henry van Dyke classic, "The Story of the Other Wise Man," high-lighted with descriptive background music and Christmas carols composed by her accompanist, Marguerite Williams Fenney. It brings an inspiring message of the Star the Wise Men followed so long ago, and renews all the age-old wonders of Christmas.

One of the many organizations that have enjoyed performances of this unique program during the past eight holiday seasons is Phi Beta, professional fraternity of music and speech, having sponsored the program in a Chicago concert and also on two transcribed radio broadcasts in New York City. The program has also been broadcast in Hawaii, sponsored by the YWCA.

The dessert-coffee will precede the concert and there is a December 1st deadline for tickets, priced at $3.

Tickets are available now at the YWCA office, 375 South Mayfair, Daly City.

FABRIC RUG CLEANERS is exclusively franchised to provide this process

Deep Steam Wall-to-Wall Carpet Cleaning

This unique new process cleans deep and yet treats the finest carpet with loving care . . .

CLEANS DEEP actually removes soil from both the pile of the carpet and the carpet backing. It does not scrub it deeper into the fabric, that's the big difference.

GENTLE ACTION uses no brushes or scrubbing action and does not distort the pile of your carpet, so your carpet will not have that washed look.

ECONOMICAL reduces the need for frequent professional cleaning because it removes the deeply embedded soil and leaves no residue in the carpet fibers to collect dirt. Thoroughly cleaned carpets wear much longer.

RESTORES PILE the powerful extraction process removes moisture immediately, thus avoiding shrinkage, and lifts matted pile to 'like new' appearance.

SAFE PROCESS this steam clean process was scientifically developed especially for the professional carpet cleaner. It is GUARANTEED to be COMPLETELY SAFE for all fabrics under all conditions.

MOISTURE CONTROL the cleaning unit controls the steam, which carries the cleaning agent, so that it penetrates only to the carpet backing.

MOTH PROOFING AND SOIL RETARDING
During this remarkable cleaning operation every fiber of your carpet is coated with a soil retardant and moth proofing to keep your carpet cleaner and protected longer.

"Soil Extracted, Not Scrubbed Deeper. That's the Difference!"

Missing Medic Plagues Preps

For the lack of a doctor the North Peninsula League game featuring El Camino (0-5-1) and Terra Nova (2-4-0) was cancelled Friday night in the foggy, foggy dew of South San Francisco's Clifford Field.

While the officials stamped their collective feet at midfield attempting to defrost the toes and the El Camino Band gallantly tried to keep the restless fans entertained by presenting the halftime show before the game, school officials longingly looked towards the entrance in hopes that the doctor would soon arrive.

That was at 8:30 p.m., 30 minutes after the game was to start. By 9 p.m. someone thought to call for help from another local physician. But after several calls it was finally decided that quite possibly the best thing to do would be to reschedule the game. Good thinking, that, as if it were played, it would have carried somewhere into Saturday morning.

When the announcement was made the few hardy fans left grumbled. They grumbled even louder when it was announced that the money wouldn't be refunded but that "another ticket to a major league game involving either El Camino or Terra Nova would be given them at the gate." Major League?

PERFECTION PAST

Wildcats Are Decisive In Pads' Demise

By JOHN HORGAN
Post Sports Writer

The football bubble has finally burst for surprising Serra High School.

The Padres, who went into Friday night's crucial West Catholic Athletic League test against St. Ignatius of San Francisco with a perfect 6-0 record, were roundly thrashed by the rugged Wildcats, 27-7, in that chilly graveyard for visiting prep elevens, ancient Kezar Stadium.

And as if that one-sided loss weren't enough, the Serrans must journey back to Kezar next Friday for an engagement with Rioridan, who routed St. Francis last night, 33-13, to take over second place in the WCAL with a 4-1 mark.

Serra dropped to third with the loss to St. Ignatius. The Padres now have a 3-1 log. St. Ignatius, 7-1 for the season, leads the circuit with a 4-0 record.

The Wildcats of Vince Tringali scored a touchdown in each period to dominate completely last night's meeting of the league's co-leaders.

A fog-chilled crowd of about 7,000 persons roared and belted as the home club got an outstanding performance from halfback Bob Giorgetti, the league's leading rusher and scorer. Giorgetti phenomenally packed the ball 37 times, gained 262 yards and scored three times.

Fullback Ray Washmera led off the scoring for SI with a seven-yard run at 7:10 of the opening frame and then Giorgetti took over.

The husky back cracked for TD's on runs of six, seven and three yards in each of the last three quarters respectively.

His performance prompted Tringali to comment that "He is the best back I've ever had here—and I haven't taught him to run, he just knows how." And how.

With Giorgetti, Washmera and even quarterback Dan Fouts hitting the center of the Serra line, the bigger and brawnier 'Cats amassed 326 yards rushing and controlled the ball the entire evening.

Serra Coach Jesse Freitas, downcast after the lopsided defeat, agreed that SI's line manhandled his own troops: "Well, we haven't been that tough all year, really. We knew this was coming, it was just a question of when."

"Our defensive line charge was nothing all night. They handled us, there's no doubt about it. And Rioridan will try to do the same thing against us."

Serra, which in its prior six tests had been able to break

Hill Run In D.C. Nov. 25

Another AAU-sanctioned 6.7-mile hill run will be held in Daly City November 25, recreation department officials announced today.

All entrants must present certification that they have trained for the event, and have a medical certificate dated within 120 days of the event.

There is an entry fee of one dollar, and no applications will be accepted until the registration fee, AAU registration number and medical release are presented, according to recreation supervisor Mickey Corso.

All contestants must have amateur standings.

The race will begin at 601 East Market Street at 11 a.m., then proceed along East Market to Guadalupe Canyon Road to Radio Road and the top of the hill. The return route will be the same.

Jim Sullivan of San Jose State holds the current open division record for the run, with a 38:06.6 time. Bob Crow, of Arroyo High School, holds the high school division record at 38:36.

Trophies will be awarded to the first, second and third place winners in each division, and medals will be given for the next seven places in each division.

El Camino, Oceana Win On Saturday

As far as Terra Nova High School was concerned the doctor never had shown up at its football game with El Camino.

The game, delayed for two hours Friday night and finally played Saturday afternoon, saw the previously winless Colts bang out at 25-0 victory over the Tigers. This brought El Camino's record to 1-5-1 and extended the Tigers' scoreless streak to 12 quarters.

In other North Peninsula League action Friday Oceana kept Jefferson winless with a 20-6 win.

Scoring once in every quarter the Colts, who had managed but seven points in three previous league encounters, used the fine running of halfback Frank Ingersoll to bully the Tigers. Ingersoll scored three touchdowns with runs of nine, two and six yards. Mike Tenerowicz tallied the other Colt score on a two-yard run.

All-League halfback Joe Nuttall returned a punt 74 yards against Jeff for the first touchdown and the Sharks ran through the Indian line the rest of the way for their second victory. The Sharks junior, making another bid for an All-League slot, intercepted a pass, ran for 126 yards, caught one pass and returned punts for a 124 yard total.

Quarterback Harold Morton's one-yarder gave the Oceana eleven their next TD before Jeff's only score came on a 38-yard pass from quarterback Steve Howe to end Bill Fischer.

The final Shark score came when junior halfback Steve Hinds ran in from the four.

Reggie Browne got CSM a 14-6 lead at 1:47 of the third period when he returned a punt 91 yards up the north sidelines.

And then scores came like this in the fourth quarter: Jim Mathwig caught a 20-yard pass from Wood at 14:54; Dan Perego added the kick for 21-6; Namanny rumbled eight yards for another tally for 27-6 at 10:57; and, finally, Mathwig caught a little four-yard pass from Wood for 33-6 at 9:22.

Football, demoralized and battered by that time, got a final TD at 5:12 in the ballgame on a two-yard run by John Olmo.

TWO TO GO

Bulldogs Near Title

By JOHN HORGAN
Post Times Sports Writer

Not since the glory days of the late 1950's and early sixties has the College of San Mateo been in such a late-season title contention situation as it is this year.

The Bulldogs need to win their last two games to capture their first ever Golden Gate Conference grid title. But that task may be easier said than done.

Having crushed hapless Foothill College, 33-12, on Saturday in their Homecoming Game, CSM's forces now must face GGC co-leaders, City College, on consecutive weekends.

Right now, the records of the four contending clubs look like this: CCSF, 4-1; Chabot, 4-1; CSM, 3-1-1; and, Diablo Valley, 3-1-1.

To make Coach Cliff Giffin's championship quest even more difficult is the fact that his eleven must play both the Rams and the Hayward-based Gladiators on the road.

Giffin, relaxing after his team had routed the Owls with a rapid-fire display of point-making in the second half, commented that, "We just can't afford to lose either."

Open Gym Cage Play On Coast

The Ins And Outs Of The 'Pouring It On' Problem

No football season is complete, it seems, until at least one charge of "pouring it on" has been leveled at a coach who may have low ethics or a top team or both ... and maybe add luck for good measure.

We, personally, are against "pouring it on" for all of the obvious and time-tested reasons. One, as you know, preaches that it may be you, next season. It's, of course, not good sportsmanship to humiliate honest, hard-trying athletes and coaches, to kick a man when he's down. And at the very practical level, playing the first string throughout a rout not only invites unnecessary injury — injuries occurring most often when athletes are tired — but also deprives the second and third stringers of the chance to pick up experience for the next year. And, of course, it's bad for morale when only a handful of kids get to play.

But while we're against pouring it on, we're also against people who automatically accuse the coaches of pouring it on whenever a score is lopsided.

There are many factors involved in an unbalanced score besides the continual playing of the regulars.

One factor that many of these detractors often disregard is that it takes two to make a skunking. Teams falling quickly and shockingly behind often give up — indeed, some teams give up before the first whistle — so that it's not so much a matter of the opposition winning big as it is the losers losing big.

Luck is also a large factor. There are some days when one team can do no wrong, the other no right.

And then there are the coaches who do insert their reserves early and the reserves continue to outclass the hapless enemy. A coach would be contradicting every principle he ever espoused if he told his bench warmers, "Look fellas, take it easy on those guys."

Possibly the basic excuse for many lopsided scores, though, is that one team is really that much better than the other.

If you're a baseball fanatic and can't do without the game during these long winter months, we suggest you send away for APBA Baseball (this isn't an official plug, so you'll have to find out how to purchase it on your own), which is undoubtedly the most realistic sport game ever devised (APBA also makes fine football and golf games).

It's all mathematically based on the actual playing records of current major league players (you can also send away for "back issues" or all-time great teams, like the 1927 Yankees, for instance) and baseball nuts who have actually played entire major league "schedules" with the same report results amazingly close to what happened in real life.

If you were to play this season, for instance, with the 1967 season "cards" (you send away for new "cards" every year), chances are the Red Sox and Cards would win. Yastrzemski would win the triple crown. Lonborg would win over 20 games, the strikeout pitchers would strike out a lot of batters, the fast guys would steal a lot of bases, etc.

Sorry, that's all for this item. An emergency has developed. That damned Tito Fuentes popped up with Davenport on third and only one out and Marichal has come up with sinus troubles and McCovey's feet hurt and ...

WINTER BASEBALL NOTES (THESE ARE FOR REAL): To give you a rough idea of just how good that Chicago White pitching staff was: The American League batted .236. (The National League, if you're interested, .249) If the White Sox pitching staff had been eliminated during the season, the league as a whole would have batted .239.

The Cleveland pitching staff, incidentally, broke its own major league team strikeout record, established in 1964. Which, considering the general state of the Indian pitching staff and general standings of the entire team, doesn't say much for the significance of strikeouts. Sort of like the significance of homeruns, huh? Giants, Braves, et al?

Now that Giant third base trainee, Al Gallagher, is out of the Army, it's reported that the big brass is expecting mighty things from the confident-cocky kid. Insiders say he's certainly better than Bob Etheridge and that with his hot-dog attitude and determination (a la Hal Lanier), he's virtually a can't-miss.

The same insiders (and we don't think it takes an expert to verify this one) say that the Giant front office knows it can't win the pennant without a second baseman (like say, Pete Rose or Ron Hunt or Joe Morgan) and that it's prepared to offer almost anything in trade.

MISCELLANEOUS RAMBLINGS: When's the last time a fullback led a pro league in pass receiving? If you haven't noted, 1967, so far, is the answer and it's Oakland FB Hewitt Dixon.

The New York Giants have 15 men on their roster who have had knee surgery. In a future column we'll investigate the problem of football injuries in detail.

You really have to give credit to football experts. For instance at the beginning of the season they boomed the 49ers as a great offensive power and told about how the Rams had the most awesome defense in football.

The last time we checked NFL statistics the 49ers were second in defense, the Rams tenth. Offensively, the Rams were fifth, the 49ers sixth.

Henry De Vries, the nationally known San Mateo who plays golf on an artificial leg, last week shot his age — 92.

And finally, if you're the nostalgic type: while perusing a June, 1948, issue of the school publication, The Portola Penguin (Portola Junior High, San Francisco), found among other artifacts by your gossip columnist's mother, whose chubby little face did we discover snuggled among other track team members? None other than Stan Farber's. He is, of course, your friendly neighborhood druggist and civic leader in Pacifica. Stan, needless to say, was also on the newspaper staff (news editor). He also played the title role in the school production, "Wildcat Willie and the Bearded Lady."

That's enough of that. Now we know how Herb Caen feels. When he finishes a column, that is, not when he cashes his pay check.

S.S.F., Rams To Play Off League Tie

If North Peninsula League football fans are hoping for a closely contested title game Friday night there is every indication they will not be disappointed.

After Friday's action both the South San Francisco Warriors and the Westmoor Rams couldn't be any closer in relative statistics if they were next of kin.

The Warriors defeated smaller Half Moon Bay High School, 48-13, to run their record to 4-0 in league play and 5-2-0 overall. The Rams won a practice game from Aragon High School, 12-6, and now have a 5-2-0 overall record and a 4-0-0 conference mark.

Both schools have met three common opponents and emerged victorious by similar scores. The Warriors downed HMB, 48-13 — the Rams won over the Cougars, 46-12. SSF blanked El Camino, 21-0 — Westmoor did the same thing to the Colts, 27-0. SSF smothered Jefferson, 55-0 — Westmoor ran up a 52-0 blanking of the Indians.

And to top it all off the Rams were the last team in the NPL to beat the Warriors and that was way back in 1963. So the stage is really set for the title game Friday night at Clifford Field.

Ray DeJong's defending champion Warriors had an easy time yesterday in their final game preparation for the championship tilt. The HMB Cougars, although game and constantly badgering the Warrior secondary with pinpoint passing, will prove no match physically for the rugged Warriors.

Shooting linebackers and linemen through gaping holes in the Cougars' line the Warriors dropped HMB quarterback Jerry Mullins for a minus 40 yards and sub quarterback Tom Evan for another 17-yard loss. Combine this with the explosive offensive running attack of Russ Cottrell and Lory Bernardini and the Warriors have what it was — a strong victory.

The Warriors scored five touchdowns and had the game well in hand before Jerry Murphy's crew could cross the goal line. Cottrell busted open the first time he touched the ball for a 44-yard scoring jaunt and the rhythm of the game was set.

Four more runs gave the victors four more scores as quarterback Craig Friar plunged from the one, halfback Rocky Walker and fullback Mike Heene ran from the three and halfback Ed Aguilar scooted from the five — that was all for HMB.

Mullins, who is proving to be the best passer in the league, was 13 for 16 until the final four minutes of play and finally found up 13-19. He took the Cougars 188 yards in the air and threw two touchdown passes. One was of 31 yards to brother Gent Mullins and the other was to end Doug Goetz from the five.

The Cougars attempted to play it cagey and kept punts and kickoffs away from Cottrell, who has run back seven such

Rams Squeak By Aragon, 12-6 Score

By GRADY PROCTOR
Post Correspondent

Aragon High School's disbelieving football team won new esteem, improved status, and the respect of a non-league foe Friday.

All of which the hard-fighting Dons would gladly exchange today for the victory they came close to, but couldn't achieve.

Aragon suffered a 12-6 loss to Westmoor in an inter-league scrap at Daly City that proved much closer than anyone had predicted.

And had the contest ended 44 seconds sooner, the underdog Dons would have salvaged a tie with their North Peninsula League title-contending foe.

Westmoor's winning touchdown came with that much time left in the final quarter when Bob Himm smashed one yard after the Rams had set up the decisive play on a 40-yard pass from Joel Carrara to Gary Soules.

Carrara, playing Russian roulette with the final gun in both the second and last period, brought Westmoor back from a 6-0 deficit with a 45-yard scoring aerial to Gil Noennich before halftime.

Aragon's upstart tactics began when Irwin Heick blocked a Ram punt and recovered on the Westmoor seven. When the Dons failed to score on that opportunity, they repeated by capturing a Westmoor fumble on the Rams three. Barry Schreckengost plowed over from the two on the second play thereafter.

The victory was the fifth in seven games for the scared Rams, who go into their title showdown with South San Francisco next week. The loss gave Aragon a 2-5 season's record who saw action because halfback Vince Nash sat out this game, exploded for 142 yards, including a 75-yard run, to pace the running game. Cottrell was second with 85 yards.

The Cougars totaled a minus six yards on the ground even though halfback Tony Lampkins gained 50 plus yards.

Substitute Turns Tide For 'Tangs

Capuchino High School got a superlative performance from a substitute yesterday to retain its impressive football stature within the city limits of San Bruno.

The Mustangs, led by reserve quarterback Ed Cozzolino, scored a 32-6 Mid-Peninsula League victory over intra-city rival Crestmoor for the Mustangs' sixth triumph in seven games.

Cozzolino came in during the second period when starting signal caller Mike Aguzin was injured, and brought Cap back from a 6-0 Mid-Peninsula League victory over intra-city rival Crestmoor for the Mustangs' sixth triumph in seven games.

He scored the Mustangs' first touchdown on a 24-yard run and put them ahead to stay with an eight-yard scoring pass to Dennis Dietzler. Cap's other touchdowns came on a seven-yard run by Roland Herrera, and 10-yard jaunt by Dan Mahle, and a two-yarder by Greg Dalzelle.

Crestmoor, gutty though small in number, drew first blood in the battle with its established rival when Glenn Grossman threw a five-yard pass to Ernie Hall. Grossman completed eight of 18 passes as the Falcons gained 134 yards through the air, but Cap threw back the rivals' running attack for a loss of 61 yards. The Mustangs gained 261 yards on the ground.

The loss was Crestmoor's fifth without a win in MPL Competition.

Crestmoor	6	0	0	0	6
Capuchino	6	12	6	7	32

Scoring: Crestmoor — Hall, 5 pass from Grossman (run failed); Capuchino — Dietzler, pass from Cozzolino (Kopatschek kick); Cap — Mahle, 10 run (kick failed); Dalzelle, 2 run (Kopatschek kick).

Pacifica Boy Burned

A 16-year-old Pacifica youth suffered second and third degree burns of the face Friday after he fell into an open fire at a Linda Mar beach.

The youth was taken to a nearby fire station for first-aid and later transferred to Mary's Help Hospital.

John Matthews, of 696 Alta Vista Drive, was attempting to throw a tire onto the fire when he apparently lost his balance and fell, face down, into the fire.

Pacifican Is Chairman Of Portola Membership

Kenneth O. Strom, acting Postmaster for the City of Pacifica, has been appointed district membership chairman of the Portola Expedition Bicentennial Foundation, it was announced today by Carl McCarthy, Pacifica, general membership chairman.

Strom, charter member of the Foundation, is president of the Pacifica Boys' Club and a member of the Pacifica Rotary Club.

He has been active in civic affairs for a number of years as chairman of the City Highway Committee, Safety Commission and chairman of the March of Dimes.

An earlier district chairman appointee was U.S. (Les) Simmonds of Burlingame, business manager and secretary treasurer of the Building and Construction Trades Council of San Mateo County.

A tour of the San Francisco Bay discovery site on Sweeney Ridge by Gaspar de Portola, observing the 198th anniversary, was made by foundation members on November 4, according to Mrs. R. L. Spangler, foundation president.

The San Mateo County Fair and Convention Association is among groups assisting the foundation.

TV Set Is Carried Off In SSF Theft

A portable television set valued at $130 was taken from the Second Lane residence of Donald Welch in South San Francisco in a burglary Sunday, police reported.

Officers said the residence was entered between 4 p.m. and 10:30 p.m. while occupants were away. Entrance was gained through forcing a rear door.

A watch and ring valued at $117 were taken in another burglary Saturday, police said.

The residence of Lawrence Vincenzini, 405 Walnut Street, was entered between 3:30 and 5 p.m. Entrance was gained through an unlocked rear door.

CANDIDATES NIGHT

Candidates for Congress from San Mateo County will appear at the Temple on Brotherhood Way today at 8 p.m. in Fellowship Hall.

MEMBERS OF THE BOARD of Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City meet with Ben Swng of the Fairmont Hotel to discuss plans for the Hospital Benefit Ball on November 30, in the Grand Ballroom of the Fairmont. (from left) Mrs. Ralph K. Davies, Woodside; Mrs. Fred Mortara, Daly City; Swig; Henry Bostwick Jr., of the San Mateo County Development Association; and Mrs. Frank Kelechava, Daly City, review the event which will commemorate the sixtieth anniversary of the Fairmont. The Hotel will pay all costs with the proceeds going to Mary's Help, St. Luke's and Mt. Zion Hospitals. Swig estimates the Hospital Benefit Ball will gross approximately $100,000, all of which will be divided by the three hospitals.

"DENTAL HEALTH FACTS"

Small cavities in the teeth can be filled more easily and with less discomfort than large ones. If decay is neglected it leads to infection and abscess formation. An infected tooth is a hazard to good health and often must be removed. A tooth that has been lost should be replaced by an artificial one. If it is not, the other teeth will shift. This shifting may lead to more decay and to diseases of the gums.

Irregular placement of the teeth should be corrected for many reasons: To improve appearance, speech, and the ability to chew foods and to help prevent other dental diseases.

Have your dentist check for cavities and follow his recommendations if treatment is needed.

Dr. Campbell tries to limit his practice to the making of dental plates, partial plates, removable bridges and extractions for dental plates. He recommends that you see your dentist at least twice a year in order to help prolong the use of your natural teeth. Dentures are not as efficient as healthy, natural teeth.

2 Daly City Men Injured In Accident

Two Daly City men escaped serious injury Sunday afternoon in a double accident touched off when one of the vehicles swerved out of control, sheared off a sign post and smashed head-on into an oncoming car.

A car driven by Johnny Woods, of 70 Oaklawn Avenue, Daly City, went out of control while traveling south on Lake Merced Boulevard and hit a wooden sign post, sending it smashing through the windshield and out the back window, narrowly missing him.

The car next careened across the roadway and crashed into a northbound car driven by Harold Coffee, of 4124 Callan Boulevard, Daly City.

Both men were rushed to Alemany Emergency Hospital for treatment after Woods was freed from his demolished car by Daly City firemen.

Meanwhile, a two-car collision at the corner of Geneva Avenue and Bayshore Boulevard slightly injured a Daly City man Sunday, shortly after 9 a.m.

Thief Hits Twice In Neighborhood

San Bruno police suspect two burglaries within a half mile of each other last week were committed by the same person.

The first burglary was to the home of Edward and Mari Lou Davis, 224 Santo Domingo, between 8 a.m. and 2 p.m., in which a suitcase, various items of clothing, a portable radio and some $186 in cash was stolen.

Total loss was estimated at $365, police said.

Between 2 p.m. and 10 p.m. the Mary J. Nevin home at 413 Huntington Avenue was ransacked and a portable television set, suitcase, items of clothing and savings bonds were stolen.

The total loss to the Nevins has not been determined, police report.

In both cases, entry was made through the front door after the locks were apparently picked, according to investigators.

Venezuela Missionary Will Speak

The Rev. Paul McKowen of Venezuela will speak at Sunday services of the Broadmoor Presbyterian Church, 377-87th Street, Daly City, at 9:15 and 11 a.m.

Sunday school and infant care will be provided.

Reverend McKowen will show pictures of Venezuela on Sunday at 7 p.m. This is to be followed by a fellowship time.

Reverend and Mrs. Paul McKowen are associated with the local church, as related missionaries in the mission work overseas. The McKowens, who went to Venezuela from the Bay Area, have been working at Coro, Edo. Falcon with a rural community in a mining area in east Venezuela.

Elder Norris Hennings is chairman of the Missions Committee for the local congregation.

The pastor, the Rev. Herbert C. Tweedie invites the public to attend.

Moscow Circus at Cow Palace for Four Days

The world famous Moscow State Circus will appear for the first time in the western United States November 23-26 at the Cow Palace.

Sponsored by the State Department under the United States-U.S.S.R. exchange program, the circus is conducting a three-month coast-to-coast tour, and will come to the Bay Area directly from performances in New York, Boston, Philadelphia and other eastern cities.

An American circus is in the midst of a similar tour of Russia.

The Moscow Circus performed in the United States during a limited tour four years ago, but the itinerary did not include West Coast cities.

After the Cow Palace show, the circus will perform November 28-December 3 at the Oakland Coliseum.

Russian circuses are considered to be among the world's finest, and performers in the Moscow State Circus are gleaned from the hundreds of small circuses which perform throughout the Soviet Union.

The 65 stars who are being presented in the United States were selected from more than 7,000 performers in Russia, according to the show's sponsors.

Unlike the American circus, various acts in the Russian or European circus are presented one at a time in a single ring.

The Russian circus also places more emphasis upon form. Wire walkers execute ballet steps, and gymnastic performances constitute a considerable portion of the show.

The Russian circus also contains some acts not normally found in an American circus. One of the most popular performers in the show is the illusionist, a magician who performs "supernatural" feats with the aid of 10,000 pounds of elaborate equipment.

Animal acts are also favorites with the Russian circus audiences, and the Moscow Circus features a 700-pound trained bear named Goshka.

Blaze Minor

Fire caused only minor damage to the backroom of the Crestmoor Richfield station at 2890 San Bruno Avenue, San Bruno, at 7:25 p.m. Sunday.

Firemen of Station Two were called after attendants were unable to control the blaze, which one fire official described as "more smoke than fire."

New Temple Families To Be Feted

Sabbath Services at Congregation B'nai Israel will be held November 10 at 8:15 p.m.

Services are to be conducted by Rabbi Solomon A. Shore and Cantor Jeno Friedmann in honor of those nearly 40 families who have recently joined the synagogue.

Members of the Sisterhood will hostess the Oneg Shabbat that follows.

Michael Klein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Klein, will celebrate his Bar Mitzvah at Sabbath Services on November 11.

Honored guests will be Mrs. Pearl Richman and Michael Richman, cousins from Chico. Michael will be honored at a Kiddush following the services by his parents.

In the evening, the Sisterhood will hold a "Getting to Know You" dinner at the Templehouse, with the cocktail hour beginning at 7 and dinner at 8.

Entertainment and an auction of new merchandise will be featured.

Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Bernard Friedman (583-0970) or Mrs. George Bilick (992-7464).

Regional Government: 'Federals Know Best' Councilmen Are Told

Councilmen from North County cities Thursday night heard a Department of Housing and Urban Development representative "lay it on the line" about federal control over local redevelopment projects.

Don Pollard, director of planning for HUD, told North County Council of Cities delegates the federal government "does in fact know best" about such things as regional government.

In answer to a question from San Bruno Councilman Karney Barberian, Pollard said he feels local governments are presently unable to evaluate and solve all their own problems.

Pollard heard opposition from a number of staunch "home rule" advocates, including Pacifica Councilman Rick Wallis, who said he feels the cities "are sufficiently sophisticated to spend money by themselves."

A number of "anti-ABAG" councilmen also attacked his position on regional government.

Pollard said it is becoming obvious that the cities are unable to cope with such problems as water and sewer control.

He advocated the creation of a regional agency to represent local governments to the federal agencies, "and a further delegation of the powers of the cities." "What is needed is a closer and more workable partnership between the cities and the federal government," he said.

$1,300 Tools Are Taken

More than $1,300 in small power tools was stolen from a South San Francisco distributing company after thieves smashed in the front door, police report.

The "smash and grab" robbery was at the Black and Decker Tool Company, 1139 Airport Boulevard, police said.

AUGUST IS GETTING ROMANTIC

DALLAS — Will someone have to write romantic songs rhyming with "August?" The Dallas County clerk's office says June still leads for number of weddings, but August is overtaking that romantic month. Records showed only 21 fewer weddings in August than in June in 1967.

BBB Offers Check Checkup

A bad check protection warning system called Tele-Warning was disclosed today by Percy S. Mostow, business relations manager for the Better Business Bureau of San Mateo County.

Tele-Warning is a new service to cut losses drastically by "bad check" passers. It is a telephone relay system which will bring information on lost or stolen company checks, payroll checks, money orders, travelers checks, government checks, counterfeit currency and related items such as lost or stolen credit cards, personal and company checks that are issued without having an account or no such address.

Mostow said "The bad check racket is the fastest growing fraud in California." Business is estimated to lose over one billion dollars annually in the United States and local merchants in the Bay Area and on the Peninsula lose hundreds of thousands of dollars yearly, he said.

Supermarkets, department stores and service stations are the hardest hit by the professional and amateur bad check writer. "A national survey," Mostow went on, "showed that hardware stores show the greatest resistance to cashing bad checks." According to this survey, rubber check writers are mostly adults and two-thirds males. Because of this serious financial threat to business the Bureau has inaugurated, with the help of the Secret Service, postal authorities and police departments of San Mateo County, the Tele-Warning System.

Boy Burned Fighting A Grass Fire

A 14-year-old Pacifica boy who volunteered to help firemen fight a grass fire in Vallemar Tuesday was injured when a sudden gust of wind engulfed him in a flash fire, authorities said.

Gregory Sandoval, 160 Hiawatha Street, was treated by his family physician for burns of the face and head after the injury occurred about 11:30 p.m.

Firemen said Sandoval was digging a trench to help contain the fire, which burned about 10 acres. Firemen spent two hours battling another grass fire Tuesday near Terra Nova High School. The second fire was reported about 3 p.m., and was apparently set by an 8-year-old boy.

Mostow said the system works this way: "Each Tele-Warning member receives one telephone call and in turn makes one or two telephone calls to participating members. Thus, our business community can be alerted to warnings in a matter of minutes. Each member also receives a decal which indicates that this firm uses the BBB check protection Tele-Warning System."

Plans to help eliminate fraud, deception, misrepresentation and bait advertising is also in the offering. Mostow also said "It won't be long now before a Bay Area wide computerized system will link all BBB offices in the Bay Area to a central information system which will keep tabs on business and individuals who prey on the public. There is an urgent necessity for such a system."

In the past five years the issuance of bad checks has increased by 15 percent each year.

Bruno Rec Meet Nov. 8

The San Bruno Park and Recreation Commission will hold its study meeting on Wednesday, November 8, 1967, at 8 p.m. in City Hall Council Chambers.

Limit Bay Population? An Idea, But—

By GEORGE GOLDING

A preliminary plan for developing the nine-county Bay Area to accommodate 7,200,000 people by 1990 is "great," several citizens said in San Mateo, "but" that is too many people.

Meeting Chairman John MacInnis, a supervisor from Marin County, agreed that "we could solve many of our problems, the need for bridges, roads, hospitals, if we could limit population, but the leaders of local government would be derelict in their function if they were to rely on this wonderful happening coming about."

ABAG Plan

They were speaking of a plan offered by the Association for Bay Area Governments, in a public hearing of the scheme at San Mateo City Hall.

After hearing the proposal described by ABAG Regional Planning Committee Chairman MacInnis, and by James Hickley, ABAG Director of Planning, nine of the 150 people present said it didn't go far enough.

Thomas Jordan, president of the Committee for Green Foothills, said he was delighted with the plan generally, but ABAG should "set its sights higher on the ability to try and control growth," and should favor some kind of taxation that would encourage landowners to keep property as "open space."

George Treichel, of the Committee for Green Foothills, said he also thought the plan is generally good, but "raises some points I don't think were adequately covered."

He challenged ABAG to decide "what are the possibilities of optimum environment in the Bay Area?"

"I reject the idea that man is able to control the growth of his own species," he said, demanding that ABAG refute the concept that Bay Area population "must double" every 20 or 25 years.

Eleanor Boushey, a councilwoman from Portola Valley, said she was "very much in favor of the plan," but suggested it should include Skyline Boulevard south of Half Moon Bay Road as a "recreational corridor" and scenic parkway.

Viewpoints

Mrs. Marcella Jacobsen spoke for three organizations with "interlocking" viewpoints, the Save San Francisco Bay Association, Citizens for Regional Recreation and Parks, and the Council for Governmental Responsibility.

She commended ABAG for developing the plan, but objected to suggested filling of the bay-shore, objected to the plan's inclusion of a proposed bayfront freeway, pleaded for "more detailed study before adopting land use" schemes, and urged the body to put an end to "artificially inspired immigration."

E. E. Taylor, a planner speaking on his own, said "there seem to be complementary and competing desires for the use of our land," and urged ABAG to consider that "our people do not want the high density living" projected in some areas by 1990.

"Right thing"

Consulting engineer C. D. Allen said "I'm sure your plan can be made to work, but you need the support of professional engineers. There is no question in my mind that it is the right thing."

Olive Mayer, speaking as Chairman for Walks and Trails of the Peninsula regional group of the Sierra Club, commended ABAG's plan and planners, but said the open space allowed in San Mateo county's rural regions is "totally inadequate" for the number of people who will be taking to the outdoors in the future.

Mrs. Morse Erskine of San Francisco's Planning and Urban Space Renewal Association, complimented the ABAG scheme as "an effort to direct our thinking along the lines of regional planning for the first time in history," but said the public hearing should be held in San Francisco.

Redwood City Councilwoman Mary Henderson suggested ABAG lend its influence to the idea of a center-bay freeway from San Jose to Vallejo, which would end the need for future freeways along the bay edge.

Longley's Restaurant San Francisco Tradition

WITH THE FORMAL OPENING OF Longley's beautiful, new restaurant, located on the Battery Street side of the Golden Gateway Plaza, a cherished dining tradition returned to San Francisco. One of the greatest names in the City's past restaurant history, Longley's dates back to the Barbary Coast days of 1849, when owner Samuel Longley opened his first tent-like restaurant on what is now the corner of Clay and Grant Streets. The modern version of Longley's offers a bold, new concept in cafeteria-style dining, which is sure to please those who desire the speed and convenience of a self-service meal. Now operated by the Foster Lunch System Ltd., President Henry Solomon and his staff have created a dining haven, where continuous service is always without lineups or delays. The prevailing atmosphere is one of quiet, leisurely dining. On the walls hang fine oil paintings by renowned artist John Sackas. Longley's is indeed a welcome addition to San Francisco's roster of fine restaurants.

Henry Solomon

LUZ GARCIA, San Francisco's petite "First Lady of Night-life Entertainment," and operator of the Sinaloa Mexican restaurant and cantina, will present one of her most unusual shows Monday, November 6. Colorfully costumed Mario and Felicia, folklore dance team of Mexico, will perform the fiery, authentic dances of old Mexico in the manner which won them acclaim in 14 different countries. Consuela Gonzales, who was an operatic star through her many portrayals of "Carmen" in San Francisco's "Dollar Operas," will make a triumphant return to the Sinaloa. Victor Buelna, Mexican songstar and recording artist, will continue to headline the new show. Ravishing singer-dancer Vickie Alvarez will also be featured.

Luz Garcia Ron Spears, who does the vocals for Jac Moses and The Controversial Society Rock, now appearing on weekends at the Hi-Fi Room South, has to be one of the top young singers ever to appear on the Peninsula.

A BIT OF SWITZERLAND IN BURLINGAME — From the distinctive European graciousness of owners Wilfried and Marion Blarer, to the intriguing Coats of Arms adorning the walls, the Matterhorn Swiss restaurant on California Drive affords a dining atmosphere expected to be found only in the magnificent surroundings of the famed Swiss Lakes and Alps. Diners who have visited here agree that the authentic Swiss dishes on Chef Wilfried's new menu are gourmet delights. Two of his most exciting additions are Cheese Fondue and Fondue Bourguignonne. Both are served for two, and, if desired, cooked at your own table. Domestic and imported wine and beer are also served to complement your meal.

"Pacifica Day" at Bay Meadows November 13

CONVERSATION IN THE PACIFICA AREA, especially at Nick Gust's Rockaway Beach restaurant, is "Pacifica Day" at Bay Meadows Monday, November 13, and the feature races scheduled for various Pacifica business firms. If you haven't already made arrangements to attend this fun and fund raising event, suggest you do so now by contacting Nick Gust or one of the town officials in charge of the program. After the races, Nick's restaurant and lounge would be an ideal place to enjoy dinner and cocktails. Whether a "winner" or a bob-or-so loser, Nick has a menu that fits any occasion. Saturdays are usually devoted to television at the Cap'n's Cabin, as host Duane Eckert wouldn't think of missing any of the ball games. While watching the game action in color, Duane's gang of avid sport fans are usually oblivious to other matters.

AFTER THE GRAND OPENING BASH of last weekend, the dining action at The Cookery, in Mills Square, has settled down to a steady busy pace. Manager "Robbie Robertson" is still shaking his head and wondering where all the patrons dined before his restaurant's opening. During the festivities, Robbie gave away countless numbers of cigars and orchids, and saw his efforts compensated by enjoying the busiest weekend in the restaurant's brief, but bustling history. The Cookery is now open 24 hours a day. If you don't believe a restaurant can be packed at 3 a.m., just drop by here any early Saturday or Sunday morning. Nothing superstitious about Frank and Fannie Torres. When they built their Montara Beach hotel, restaurant and lounge, 13 picture windows were installed, which offers a panoramic view of the rolling hills and Pacific ocean while dining.

Although only in the second week of their engagement at Augie's on Third Avenue, the Joe Sharper Combo, featuring vocalist Terry Shaw, has already proved a big dancing crowd attraction.

Thanksgiving is one day we suggest taking the family out to dine. But for those planning a special dinner at home, suggest you don't overlook the many table treats on the shelves of Vince Licata's Delicatessen and Fish Grotto.

Pearl S. Buck Visits Villa Hotel

Observed "holding court" one morning during her recent visit to the Villa Hotel, San Mateo, was noted authoress Pearl S. Buck. Many of her admirers were treated to a very casual and informal chat with this famous lady as she was sitting admiring the beautiful pool and garden area of the Villa Hotel from its luxurious lobby.

Jim Llewellyn seems to be in the process of building a food and drink dynasty. He's the owner of the El Patio Mexican restaurant, in Menlo Park, operates The Pump, in Redwood City, and recently opened another dining spot in Portola Valley. Jim's "right hand" during lunch time at the El Patio is his attractive wife, Shelly.

That stampede of cars noticed last weekend out Foster City way were not just new bridge viewers. They were headed for a spaghetti dinner at Martini's of Foster City. You, too, will be headed that way once you see the price range in the advertisement.

You never hear a waitress say "This is not my table" at Lew Lehr's steakhouse in San Francisco's Marina. Lew's superb service has everyone on his staff assisting the waitress assigned to your table.

Coffee Shop By Day Candlelight Dinners In The Evening

A bustling coffee shop and restaurant by day, Ansara's, in Redwood City, magically changes its atmosphere into a dinner house of romantic candlelight dining in the evening. The lights are dimmed low, tables are covered with linen, and candlelight is added, as the scene is set for the enjoyment of Candlelight Dinners.

Broiled to precise order, dinner patrons have a choice of USDA choice Sirloin or New York Cut Steak, with all the trimmings, including champagne and, if desired, a glass of Danish Fruit Liqueur. All this for just $3.95 per person.

The hustle and bustle of San Francisco's Fisherman's Wharf is completely under control when choosing Sil Oliva's Exposition Fish Grotto for your seafood feast. Parking in this area sometimes presents a problem. But never at the Exposition Fish Grotto. Have the attendant park your car, then slip in for a delightful dinner.

Seen enjoying a day at the races with a happy group of sports fans were Tommy Phipps, plankman at Fabbro's, in Redwood City, and his attractive fiancée. If you sat in on the nighttime conflation at Fabbro's between Phipps and restaurant owner Frank Fabbro, topics will most likely range from "who was the last American leaguer to hit 400?" to "What year did Whirlaway win the Kentucky Derby?"

For a mixologist with a wit as dry as an expert's martini, give a listen to "Blacky" McMannus, the extraordinary plankman at Scotty Campbell's, in Redwood City. "Blacky" will have you in stitches with his thoughts on world happenings. He'll also mix you that martini mentioned earlier.

Fireside Revue As "Far Out" As A Space Flight

Monday being a usual quiet night on the niter circuit, your Bright Lighter meandered down to the Fireside Lounge for a chat with owners Phil Maita and Jack McRae and to review the show. This is one club (which was jam packed) where even the owners don't know what to expect next. Seems the Napoleon Five, featuring Napoleon Murphy Brock, are so loaded with talent that each evening is like an opening. Their version of "today's" musical capers and gitations are as "far out" as a "space flight."

The All-Girl Topless Revue is "something else," especially the new act billed as "Living Color," who performs five times nightly. Although I didn't stay on for the 1:30 a.m. Amateur Topless Contest, understand it's been an eye-popping success. The Fireside revue is strictly a show for "Girl Watchers" — and for anyone else who enjoys entertainment served mod fashion. Action seven nights a week — and I do mean ACTION.

Phil Lehr had some important foreign visitors dining in the elegant Wellington Room at his Steakery in downtown San Francisco, recently. They were Kevan Dunlop, the Mayor of Dubbo, Australia, Eric Youngberg and Erick Foster, prominent executives from Sydney, who co-hosted a dinner party for a group of important men from down under who are on a tour of the U.S.

Another restaurateur who has been on the hunting trail is Louie Gundunas of the Balkan Village. He and his partner, Vahan Caffejian, returned from Wyoming with the elk and deer they bagged on the rangy peaks. Who ran the restaurant while they were off hunting? Give credit to their lovely wives, Peggy Gundunas and Sonia Caffejian.

Keating Would Give Police Rest

"There is a pressing need in this country to introduce measures which will lower psychological pressures upon policemen," Edward M. Keating, candidate for Congress in San Mateo County told the Kennedy-Fulbright Club of San Francisco State College, today. "These men work day in and day out and soon their 'world' becomes one in which they begin to look upon everyone as lawbreakers. They should be given an opportunity to get away from the job, step into the mainstream of society and relax. During this sabatical they would not be on call, they would not be required to attend any schools, seminars or other functions pertaining to law enforcement but only to follow the pursuits that interested them the most. They could tear down that old car engine and rebuild it, take an extended vacation, go fishing or just lie around the house and putter in the garden. When he returned to his duties he would be fresh, rested both physically and mentally and ready to tackle his job and responsibilities with renewed vigor. Teachers have these privileges for good reason. Isn't the policeman's job as necessary?"

Keating continued, "In addition, we should have federally subsidized police and law enforcement courses, on a large and complete scale, in our colleges. Police would be required to attend these schools which would intermingle up-to-date information from the social sciences, medical, and legal professions, with aspects of law enforcement. I feel the various law enforcement agencies should offer even higher pay, better pension plans, better survivor benefits and uniform pay.

A Younger For Monaco

A relative of the late San Mateo County Congressman J. Arthur Younger has endorsed Dan Monaco, Democratic candidate for Congress, and taken a major role in his countywide campaign.

Mrs. A. C. Younger, Atherton, has accepted the chairman of the countywide Citizens for Monaco organization.

Rear Admiral Backing Keating in Race

Rear Admiral Arnold E. True, (Ret.), former Staff Commander in Chief of the U.S. Atlantic Fleet, USN, has announced his support of Edward M. Keating for the Congressional seat from the 11th Congressional District. At the same time the retired Admiral accepted Co-Chairmanship of the Keating campaign.

"I have studied each of the candidates running," Admiral True said, "and have concluded that only Ed Keating has been consistent and honest in his many long years position that the Vietnamese war is wrong and must be put to a stop."

"As a military man I like to win," said Admiral True. "The time has arrived for Edward Keating to win in San Mateo County. The people are sick and tired of men who say one thing to Hillsborough Republican and another to Daly City Democrats. Ed Keating had answers for ending the war from its inception, had answers for ending the war at the beginning of this race in July, will continue to present the same answers for ending the war, we can be assured, as Congressman from San Mateo County."

Admiral True, holder of the Navy Cross, Distinguished Service Medal, Bronze Star, Commendation Ribbon and Purple Heart, attended the U.S. Naval Academy and graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree. He received his masters degree at MIT and graduated from the U.S. Naval War College.

He was a general Line Officer from 1920-1946 and spent seven years of that duty in the Orient with the U.S. Asiatic Fleet. He commanded the USS Hammann from 1939 until she was sunk in 1942 during the battle of Midway Islands. He also commanded Destroyer Squadrons two and three during World War II. He retired in 1946 due to physical disability caused by war injuries.

The Admiral now lives on Mindego Ranch in San Mateo County, with his wife. He is the father of two sons, one who completed three years in the Navy.

Jaycee Leaders For Mrs. Black

Three past presidents of the San Mateo Junior Chamber of Commerce have endorsed Shirley Temple Black's candidacy for Congress, Stanley Hiller, Jr., Mrs. Black's campaign chairman, announced today.

They are: Thomas F. Lewis, JC president in 1962-63, of 2814 Fernwood Street, San Mateo; Duncan M. McCormack, 1963-64 president, 2523 Holland Street, San Mateo; and Edward L. Strother, 1965-66 president, 3525 Branson Drive, San Mateo.

Congresswomen for Shirley

Four leading Republican Congresswomen today commented on the prospect of Shirley Temple Black being elected to fill the House of Representatives seat vacated by the death of J. Arthur Younger.

The four Representatives are Catherine May of Washington State, Charlotte T. Reid of Illinois, Florence Dwyer of New Jersey and Margaret M. Heckler of Massachusetts, all of whom served in the House with the late Congressman Younger.

In a joint statement released from their Washington offices, the four Congresswomen said:

"We need able and dedicated women in the Congress, and Mrs. Black unquestionably typifies the best of these qualities."

"Having had an opportunity to meet and confer with Mrs. Black when she was in Washington recently, we were extremely impressed with her grasp of the issues concerning not only her constituents, but the nation as well.

"Although a formal endorsement of a candidate in a special election is not appropriate," said Congresswoman May, "I would be pleased indeed if the voters of San Mateo County elect her to become our colleague in the House of Representatives."

Slocum Still 'In the Race'

Will Rodgers Slocum, who has announced himself as a write-in candidate in the Eleventh District Congressional race, has continued to campaign despite the fact that he failed to achieve the required support signatures to file.

Slocum last week attended a testimonial dinner — not his, but Dan Monaco's, as a guest of Monaco.

Friends Feel the Sheriff 'Has Experience,' He Says

"I am running for Congress State Sheriff Association and he and a boost in economy: 'Economy should be geared to something other than war.'"

After completing his speech, Sheriff Whitmore opened himself up for questioning. When asked for his opinion on Vietnam, he said, "We should support our government because it has the experience and intelligence to handle the war."

His views on poverty were, "The war on poverty will take deep consideration for Congress" and "Directors should see that the money goes to the right places."

On the question of the legalization of marijuana, Whitmore stated that "We should obey the rules until further study can be made to find out if marijuana is physically or mentally harmful." He feels if marijuana is NOT harmful, the State Legislature should legalize it.

"Police brutality is grossly exaggerated," stated Sheriff Whitmore. He defended the police and justified the fact that sometimes force is needed to overcome lawbreakers. Sheriff Whitmore closed the discussion and his speech by thanking the audience for their participation. Sheriff Whitmore appeared as part of a speaker program that has been organized by Cap High Government teacher Mr. Ward.

Shirley May Surprise in The Debate

Friends of Shirley Temple Black indicate she may not be so much an underdog as might be thought when she takes on either a selected debater, or all of the candidates of the Democrat Party this week.

They point out that so many candidates have tried to point to Shirley as a child movie star and "Woodside housewife" that they have begun to believe their own propaganda.

The facts are, one pointed out, that Shirley has been around the top political scene for some time.

Among her friends over the years are not only admirers such as Roosevelt and Eisenhower, but friends such as Adlai Stevenson, former Democrat candidate for President, and Gen. Carlos Romulo, former secretary-general of the United Nations. Romulo told her at the start of the campaign that if she won, he would be present at the Congressional session when Shirley was sworn in.

Although known chiefly for charity work, she has participated in political activities in a quiet role for several years.

A fact about Shirley Temple Black that is generally unknown is that she was one of the geniuses selected by Stanford University more than two decades ago for a continuing life study. Professor Terman of Stanford, who pioneered the famous IQ (intelligence) tests that are now a national standard, determined at that time to follow a group of those hitting the top of the IQ test (genius level in intelligence quotient). He personally tested Shirley.

In all, 1,500 California schoolchildren were selected for the life study. Several are presently living in San Mateo county; and, as an encyclopedia article points out, the Terman group have generally achieved above-average success in their lives.

Stanford has printed two books about the Terman group, detailing to some extent, their activities, and charting the comparative results.

Several candidates have alleged that Mrs. Black has merely been saying statements "put in her mouth" by a public relations firm.

Those close to her in the campaign have disagreed, citing that Shirley makes her own decisions.

Political Notes

Young Han Choo, retired Consul-General of Korea, today announced his endorsement of the candidacy of Paul N. "Pete" McCloskey for Congress from San Mateo County's 11th District.

"I especially agree with you on the Vietnam situation," he wrote McCloskey, the only moderate Republican in the race.

McCloskey, a Marine combat veteran of the Korean conflict, has urged negotiations with Hanoi be made on the basis that Vietnam is one country, not two.

CAMPAIGNERS ALL — Joseph E. Gaffey of Hillsborough, retired Burlingame police judge, signs up on the Whitmore team with two young supporters of Earl B. Whitmore's congressional campaign. Judge Gaffey, who will be 94 in January, and 21-year-old Christine Haycock of San Bruno (center) will be casting their ballots November 14 — she for the first time — for Whitmore. The candidate's daughter, Joan Whitmore of Woodside (right) hasn't yet reached voting age, but she's already a veteran campaigner.

Keystons Back Shirley on Vietnam

A prominent San Mateo County family which has endorsed Shirley Temple Black for Congress in the 11th District, term her position on the Vietnam war "in the mainstream of Republican thought regarding the vital issue of maintaining peace with honor."

George N. Keystone Sr., chairman of the board of Anza Pacific Corp. in Burlingame and past president of the Pacific Coast Stock Exchange, and his sons David H. Keystone and George N. Keystone Jr. added their support to Mrs. Black's candidacy.

They issued the following statement:

"After carefully studying the positions of all the Republican Vietnam, we support and will vote for Shirley Temple Black to represent the people of San Mateo County in the Congress."

"In favoring a swift but honorable conclusion to the Vietnam war, Mrs. Black stands four-square with the positions taken by the Republican Congressional leadership.

"On the Senate side, Sen. Dirksen, Republican leader, and assistant leader Sen. Kuchel are opposed to dishonorable withdrawal in Vietnam. In the House, Republican leader Gerald Ford and Rep. Leslie Arends, GOP whip, take a similar position.

"It would be tragic if the Republicans of our area were to nominate as a replacement for Art Younger in Congress a person who is out of the mainstream of Republican thought.

"This is no time for the 11th District to send to Washington anyone who from the star, is out of step with the party's Congressional leadership on the most vital issue of our day."

"Shirley Temple Black's election to office will assure the people of our District sound, sensible and moderate representation in Washington."

GUESS WHO? Mimi Monaco, 11, daughter of Democratic candidate for Congress in San Mateo County, dressed in her "Good Ship Lollipop" costume. Mimi says Shirley's her favorite child actress and her father is her favorite candidate. So goes, San Mateo's gimmick-ridden, garrulous special election.

New Home Inspection Law Study

North County Council of Cities Chairman Frank Pacelli appointed a committee to study the feasibility of an ordinance to require realtors to provide complete building inspection records prior to the sale of houses.

A number of North County mayors and councilmen have expressed interest in an ordinance "to protect the homebuyers" in the area.

The building inspection reports would enable buyers to determine whether a house was constructed according to permit and city code, Pacelli said.

A similar ordinance was adopted recently in San Francisco, and the North County committee was instructed to study the ordinance and report at the next NCCC meeting.

Appointed to the committee were Burlingame Mayor Werner Diederichsen, San Bruno Councilman Karney Barberian and Brisbane City Manager Lanier Brady.

THE POST AUTO WORLD

Phone calls from sellers and owners of pickup-camper combinations have prompted a check of current and surprisingly unfavorable legislation on this equipment. According to a recent bulletin from Northern California Motor Car Dealers Association, a bill which was intended to restrict residence in such vehicles on public streets, has resulted in a nightmare law which virtually makes it illegal to park a pickup and camper anywhere for any reason after dark!

Happily, a check with Sacramento sources reveals a grace period of 90 days on enforcement of this law, which will permit amendments to the original bill.

National Automobile Dealers Association Management Services has scheduled a regional conference at the Hilton Hotel in San Francisco on November 17. The one-day Business Management conference, entitled "Operating for Profit" will run from 9:30 a.m. until 4:00 p.m.

Some of the subjects to be discussed will be: "Minimum Standards for Sales," "Sales Per Employee," "Standards for Costs of Doing Business," and "Credit Extension and Collection." Also there will be discussions on how many people you need and what to pay them, plus a great many operating guides.

San Mateo County auto enthusiasts will enjoy two major auto shows next week.

Westlake Shopping Center in Daly City and Hillsdale Shopping Center in San Mateo announce that both domestic and foreign cars will be displayed in the center malls, November 9 through 11. The Hillsdale and Westlake auto shows will be under the direction of Gary Dunham and Gene Perry, respectively.

The new Research and Development Division of the Fulview Mirror Company is currently concluding tests on three significant automotive products. Two of the engineering achievements are aimed at increasing gasoline mileage and one designed to keep motor oil free of sludge.

The two fuel-saving products are an ignition conversion and a revolutionary new carburetor that will, according to tests results, increase gas mileage more than 50 per cent.

Ready for immediate marketing is a new oil filter, which keeps oil as clean as new for thousands of miles of driving and vastly decreases the amount of water which normally mixes with motor oil.

Fulview's Research and Development Division was officially created following the new products automotive safety award made to the company last month in New York for introduction of the Wink Mirror. The mirror provides 180 degrees of undistorted vision in passenger cars.

San Mateo County Has Lowest Rate

San Mateo County has the lowest basic county tax rate in the state for the third year in a row, according to the County Supervisors Association of California.

The local rate of $133 for each $100 of assessed valuation beats the next lowest rate — $156 in San Benito County — by 23 cents. Rates range to a high of $4.32 in Alpine County, with a statewide average of $2.52.

The San Mateo County rate, however, does not include a 17-cent tax rate that is in effect throughout the county except in eight cities. The statistics released by the state association do not differentiate in the matter of library rates.

According to the report San Mateo County's current ratio of assessed value to market value is below the state average of 22.44 per cent.

Property taxes are determined by multiplying the tax rate by the assessed value. Generally speaking, the higher the assessment, the lower the rate.

'Topless' Mom of 8 Sues Spouse

Gaye M. Spiegelman, the "topless mother of eight" who has been separated from her husband for more than two years, filed suit for divorce Oct. 31, charging extreme cruelty.

Mrs. Spiegelman, who lives in Daly City, is the featured topless dancer at a North Beach nightclub in San Francisco. Her husband, Aaron, lives in Santa Rosa.

In a recent interview by a Times reporter, Mrs. Spiegelman said she moved to Daly City from Santa Rosa to be nearer her work. Her husband, she said, did not approve of her performing topless.

Mr. and Mrs. Spiegelman were married in San Francisco in 1952.

In the divorce complaint, she asks for custody of the children, for an equitable division of community property and for reasonable support and maintenance for herself and the children.

New Serra
Route Open
To Traffic

A two-mile section of the new Junipero Serra Freeway was opened to traffic in San Bruno Thursday, marking another step towards completion of the Interstate Route 280 between San Jose and San Francisco. The section dedicated Wednesday extends from San Bruno Avenue to Larkspur Drive in Millbrae, and was completed at a construction cost of $7,211,000.

The eight-lane road swings southwesterly in a shallow figure "S" curve, and generally parallels Crystal Springs Road to join Skyline Boulevard heading south.

Contour grading and other design techniques aimed at creating a roadway "consistent with the surrounding landscape" were utilized in building the freeway section, State Highway District Engineer Alan S. Hart said, "in order to provide spectacular views, along with maximum safety."

Landscaping on the new section is scheduled to begin in the near future, Hart said.

Because the new freeway construction approached the area of San Andreas Lake, special care was taken to control drainage. Four pumping stations were built in the watershed area between Larkspur and Summit Drive, with dual drainage systems to divert turbid water away from the lake.

One innovation incorporated in the new construction is a center rail of a new type steel which requires no painting.

The new metal will rust on the surface, then provide its own protective covering underneath, resulting in a "natural" finish.

Only two lanes on each side of the new section of freeway will be open to traffic initially, officials said, because of the problems which would result from traffic "fanning out" then merging again within the two-mile stretch.

Officiating at the freeway-opening and ribbon-cutting ceremony were District Engineer Hart; San Bruno Mayor Maurice Hamilton, Millbrae Mayor Charles Yetter, Federal Highway Administration Regional Administrator S. E. Farin, San Mateo County Supervisor Louis Chess, "Miss San Bruno," Karen DeAntoni, and council members from Millbrae and San Bruno.

Hart and Farin were principal speakers at a luncheon meeting following the ribbon-cutting, and the federal highway administration representative praised local officials for their efforts in obtaining the new freeway, which he termed "a significant contribution to the safety of all motorists in the area."

The dedication ceremony and luncheon were jointly sponsored by the cities of Millbrae and San Bruno and the San Bruno Chamber of Commerce.

"where ample and free convenient parking makes shopping a pleasure"

THE SKYLARK, by Buick, has been given major emphasis in 1968 with completely new body styling, longer hoods, shorter decks and a shortened wheelbase for two door models — such as the custom sport coupe above. Skylark's new styling is available in six different models.

Two New Models By Plymouth

There are two new models — a high-performance coupe called the Road Runner and a new station wagon — in Plymouth's group of new-styled intermediate cars for 1968.

The new look for '68 embraces flowing body and roof lines and flare-up at the rear fenders, Sandy Sandberg of Donahue Chrysler-Plymouth said this week.

The Plymouth 1968 intermediate lineup offers 23 different models.

"We have made a major effort to improve both the appearance and the variety of models for buyers who want a car larger than a compact, but smaller than standard size," Sandberg said.

Other Plymouth car lines are the standard size Fury, the Barracuda sports car, and the compact Valiant.

The new Satellite Sport Wagon has wood-grained side and rear treatment, a double-hinged tailgate that opens as a tailgate and a door and an optional concealed tailgate squeegee and washer system for the rear window.

The expanded intermediate Plymouth lineup for 1968 includes the performance model GTX: Sport Satellite; Satellite Sports Wagon; Satellite two-door hardtop and four-door sedan; the Belvedere Coupe and Road Runner.

Also available for 1968 are a host of new options, including stereo tape units, integral with the radio in the instrument panel and automatic speed control units controlled from the end of the turn signal lever.

Buick has been terming this the "Year of the Option, because of the way our buyers have exercised their wide choices and set new records in nearly every major option we offer," Larry Adams, the owner of Adams Buick, disclosed this week.

Quickest yardstick he offered is that so many more people have been ordering cars tailor-made that often 75 per cent of the cars coming off Buick's production lines have been built to the exact tastes of their owners-to-be.

"Buick buyers spent more money for air conditioning alone on 1967 models than they did on automatic transmissions," he reported. This was the first year this occurred, and that model run of 562,000 was Buick's fifth-biggest year on record.

"And 319,000 of those cars were air-conditioned, well over half of total production and a 25-per-cent increase over the previous year," Adams said.

"It's interesting that they included 7,800 convertibles, also a record. About one out of every three convertibles is ordered with air conditioning."

Adams explained that more than 552,000 Buicks were equipped with automatic transmissions during that model run, but the difference in air-conditioning and automatic-transmission costs account for higher-dollar volume for air conditioning.

He also noted that Buick built nearly 194,000 cars last year with custom vinyl tops, more than double the previous year, and said there isn't any market for "plain-Jane" cars anymore.

AT AMERICAN MOTORS:

Style, Performance Change

Paced by its new entry in the sporty-car field, the Javelin, American Motors' 1968 model lineup signals a change in the company's styling and performance concepts.

Besides the jaunty Javelin, which represents a radical departure from traditional American Motors' offerings, the company has introduced a new low-priced convertible in its best-selling Rebel line. In addition, a two-door hardtop and four-door luxury sedan have been added to AM's top-line Ambassador series.

"The 23 models in the 1968 line have been carefully chosen to provide a complete selection of body types for every individual and family requirement, organized into four car lines, each with its own distinctive appeal," said Bill Wilson, Melody Rambler owner.

"At the same time we have continued to concentrate our models, in terms of car-size and price, in the area of the market that continues to provide most of the industry's growth opportunity," he said.

In addition to the sporty, special-purpose Javelin, which appears in two hardtop versions, the 1968 standard American Motors lines include:

The multi-purpose Rebel series, intermediate in size, with nine models in four body types and three series.

The luxury Ambassador, intermediate in size, with seven models in three body types and three series.

The economy Rambler American, compact in size, with five models in four body types and three series.

The Rebel and Ambassador lines both will offer three hardtop versions, the Rambler American one. There are four-door sedans and four-door station wagons in all three standard lines. The Ambassador has increased its four-door sedans to three with the addition of an elegant new SST version.

Compared with 1967, the number of Rebel versions has been increased from eight to nine, the number of Ambassador types reduced from eight to seven, and the number of Rambler American choices reduced from nine to five, Wilson said. The entire line in 1967 totaled 26 models.

"Passenger safety continues uppermost in our minds," emphasized Wilson. "Our 1968s are easily the safest, most reliable AM cars ever produced, and they include numerous features inside and out that will substantially improve motoring pleasure and increase safety."

More than a dozen new safety features will be included as standard equipment on the 1968 models. These include such items as side-of-car safety markers, illuminated on most models, safety-shaped armrests and interior control knobs and handles, seat back locks on two-door models, a new mechanical brake light switch, padding for key interior areas and components, and non-glare finishes for certain interior items.

The best two-car garage in the country.

Opel Kadett and the new Buick Riviera are a couple suggestions your Buick dealer has for giving your garage that well-thought-out look for 1968. Economy and dependability on one side, the ultimate in personal car luxury on the other. Of course the choice doesn't stop at that. You can pick your pair from eight new Buick series and an Opel Kadett lineup that includes everything from a wagon to a flashy new Rallye Kadett. So we say: Wouldn't you really rather have your Buick/Opel dealer fill your garage this year?

Chrysler Sticking With Its Current Style Pattern

The successful pattern of evolutionary styling which has characterized Chrysler for the past several years is being continued for 1968, reports the general manager of Donahue Chrysler-Plymouth, Sandy Sandberg.

Styling improvements have been made to the front and rear, a new roof is provided for three different hardtops, and several convenience features have been added to the line.

Refinements which make each of the 51 models more luxurious and the styling changes establish strong identity for each of the five series: Newport, Newport Custom, 300, New Yorker, and Town and Country Wagons.

"In planning the 1968 Chrysler we have followed the pattern which for the past several years has contributed to the increasing popularity of these cars," said Sandberg.

"The changes have been made only when they improve the total appearance or performance of a particular model," he said.

The sporty 300 series, available in convertible, two-door and four-door hardtop models, offers, for the first time, headlamps concealed behind movable doors that match the rest of the grille. The 300 four-door hardtop has a new roof, as do comparable models in the Newport and Newport Custom series.

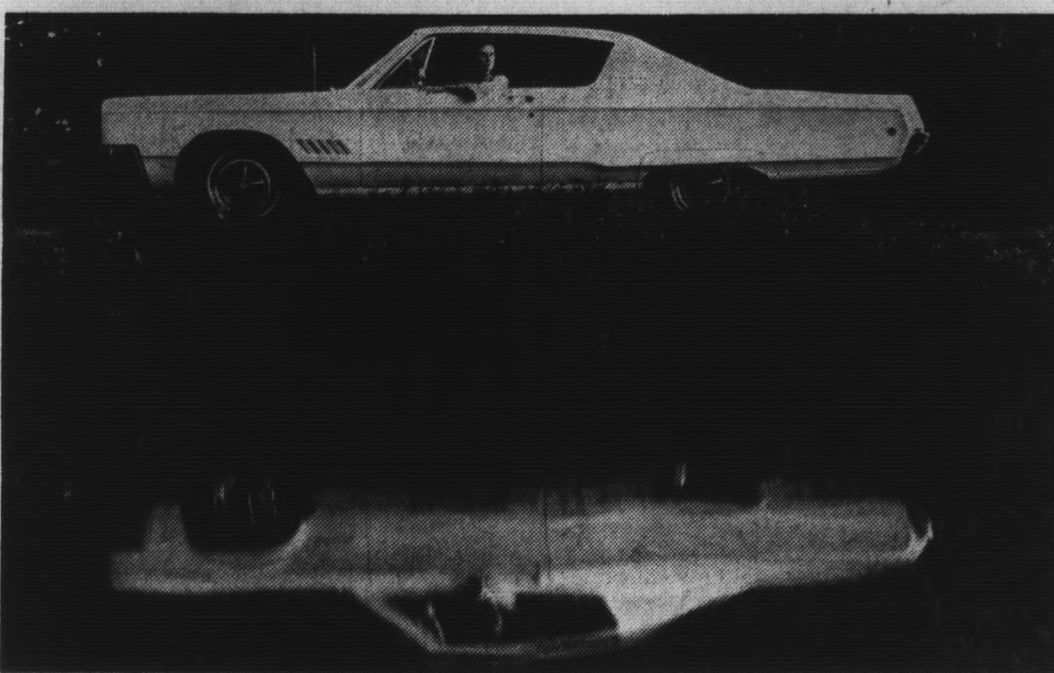

Although the over-all sculptured metal appearance which has made Chrysler distinctive is retained, the styling changes to front and rear fenders, grilles, and rear deck areas provide strong model year and individual series identification.

An optional automatic speed control unit, vacuum-actuated, is controlled by a pushbutton and knob on the end of the turn signal lever. It enables the driver to maintain constant speed.

The unit disengages automatically when the brake pedal is depressed. Rotation of the resume-speed knob after the brake is released automatically returns the car to its previously set speed.

A new standard item on wagons is the wood-grain body side ornamentation, and an optional wagon tailgate window wiper-washer is offered for the first time.

NEW CHRYSLER retains the revolutionary styling pattern of past several years for 1968. Fifteen models are offered. Styling changes have been confined to fenders, grilles and rear deck areas, although new roofs are provided in three hardtop models.

WM. J. SWEENEY & SONS

6800 Mission St.

ESTABLISHED 1908

PL 5-6500

Fiat's new 850 Spider, a two-seater rear-engine convertible with a disappearing top and styling unique in the low price class, is giving Fiat's American dealers eight different models, all at the lower end of the automotive price scale, according to a William Sweeney and Sons official.

Sharing many parts with the successful 850 fastback, introduced into the U.S. market in 1966, the new Spider boasts a four-cylinder, aluminum head engine of 843 cubic centimeter displacement which can power the 149 inch vehicle to 90 mile-an-hour speeds in fourth gear. The transmission is a four-speed all synchronous unit with Porsche type synchronizer rings. It is combined with the differential.

Styling of the Spider, both inside and out, is exceptionally elegant, Sweeney added. Tested for aerodynamic qualities in the wind tunnels of Fiat of Italy, which is the world's fifth largest auto manufacturer, the body is almost entirely devoid of chrome. The low wrap-around bumpers accent the sleekness. There are no exterior doorhandles. Steel disc wide rim wheels with Pirelli tires are standard equipment. A hardtop is optional.

The interior is all vinyl with woodgrain dashboard accents. The bucket seats are anthropometrically designed for comfort. Instrumentation includes a tachometer, an ammeter and a water temperature gauge.

In line with the latest safety practice, the 850 Spider contains an articulated steering column lubricated for the life of the car. Other advances include disc brakes up front and a recirculation system for oil vent fumes and blowby gases.

Designed for a long life of work and play, the new Fiat 124 station wagon has five doors—which open exceptionally wide, and the 124 wagon offers exceptional carrying ease and capacity for a vehicle 159 inches long.

It is reported to be ideal as a car for carrying the variety of things which the American homeowner needs, still it is economical and maneuverable for the most congested city driving conditions.

The all-vinyl interior is built for rugged wear, yet the seats are padded for extra comfort. There are individual seats up front and a foldable bench-type seat in the rear. The dashboard is padded and free of protruding knobs.

The 124 station wagon has a stressed body structure to defeat rattles and the 1197 cubic centimeter four-cylinder engine is rubber mounted—as is the gearbox—to provide a vibration-free ride. The two-section drive shaft also has rubber couplings to increase riding comfort.

Like the award-winning 124 sedan, another of the eight models now offered in the U.S. by Fiat—fifth largest auto manufacturer in the world—the station wagon requires no lubrication of suspension or steering members for the life of the car. It has coil springs at all four wheels with a sophisticated live axle rear suspension including a transverse Panhard rod, hydraulic shock absorbers and an anti-roll bar.

For maximum stopping effectiveness, the station wagon boasts disc brakes on all four wheels plus an all-important braking distribution effort valve, Manning said. Despite the fact that it is in the low price class, the styling is in the sleek Italian tradition.

THE FIAT 124 STATION WAGON

Jet-Age Styling Marks All-New Dodge Charger

Dodge's all-new, second generation Charger, features semi-fastback design and jet-age aerodynamic styling, according to Cliff Souza, general manager of Westlake Dodge.

Designed as a full-size sports car, the new Charger represents a radical departure from the fastback styling of the Charger introduced in 1966, but continues its performance image.

And for the new year, the two-door hardtop Charger has a special performance model—the Charger R-T (Road and Track).

Wedge-form design places styling emphasis over the rear wheels with the design tapering forward to convey a forward thrusting look.

A recessed backlight has been added for improved visibility and curved side glass of 60-inch radius hints of aircraft cockpit styling. Instruments canted to the driver continues the aircraft theme.

"We aimed for a unique, yet highly functional design for the discriminating driver," said Souza. "We believe that the '68 Charger has achieved this with its fine balance of comfort, styling, performance and handling characteristics."

Coronet, Dodge's bread and butter car, has an all-new look for 1968 and a "something-for-everybody" theme.

There is a new two-door coupe with a hardtop roof styling to replace the two-door sedan. Station wagons have wood-grained side panels, double-hinged tailgate and a rear window washer-wiper.

There are racing stripes, high performance V-8's and hood scoops for the sports car enthusiast. For the economy minded there are six-cylinder engines and low axle ratios.

"Coronet, which totaled 36 percent of all Dodge sales when it was introduced in 1965, accounted for 38 percent in 1967. We expect this stylish, 117-inch wheelbase, family-size car will account for even more sales in 1968," said Robert B. McCurry, Dodge general manager.

The styling theme for 1968 incorporates soft flowing surfaces, with attention focused on the quarter panel to achieve an aerodynamic, forward motion look. Top curvature and tapering of body metal in the quarter area bears a family resemblance to the semi-fastback 1968 Charger.

Adding to the design are the gull-wing-shaped backlight, lower windshield and fast-angles roof line, which contribute to a lower silhouette. The grille is deeply recessed in keeping with the aerodynamic theme.

NEW IN THE Dodge Coronet lineup for 1968 is this two-door coupe, which replaces the two-door sedan and features hardtop roof styling, with roofs in black, white or green available.

Barbershoppers Plan A Songfest

The San Andreas Faults, a barbershop quartet made up of tenor Dick Kamian, bass Hans Adler, lead Bob Jernigan, all of Daly City, and baritone Jerry Valencia of San Francisco, will sing at the Westlake Shopping Center's Automobile Show Friday.

Kamian said the quartet, whose members are a part of the San Francisco Chapter of the SPEBSQSA, will entertain at 8 p.m. at the mall.

Anti-Smog Devices On Newly Shipped Toyotas

Toyota is importing its 1968 model line into the United States in two phases.

The first phase of 1968 Toyota models, all equipped with Toyota's anti-smog system, began arriving in the United States this month.

The second phase—scheduled to begin arriving at U.S. ports of entry in late January—will be equipped with all of the safety equipment specified for 1968 models by the Federal government.

Daly City's Toyota Motor

owner Joe Baker reports that Toyota will meet all State as well as Federal safety and anti-smog regulations with its 1968 models.

"All federal safety standards will be incorporated in our 1968 model line in time for our 'Phase Two' shipments," Baker said.

He added that Toyota was the first automobile manufacturer to qualify its exhaust emission control system for 1968 models with the Federal Government and California's Motor Vehicle Pollution Control Board.

In reporting upon model changes for the 1968 models, Baker said there will only be slight changes in the company's hot-selling Corona line.

"There will be a slight change in the grille and in the rear light assembly," he said, "and the only interior changes which will be noticeable will be in the dashboard."

Otherwise, he declared, the Corona line will be much the same as the 1967 models which have proven to be the hottest selling new import model to hit this country since the Volkswagen impact of the late 1950's.

The new Corona hardtop coupe will feature "four on the floor" stick shift with an optional automatic transmission.

Toyota will continue its 4-wheel drive Land Cruiser line and its luxury compact line of Crown sedans and station wagons, Baker said.

There will be a 10 horsepower hike in the Land Cruiser engine, bringing it up to 145 hp, Baker reports.

Also, he said, a completely new 4-door Land Cruiser station wagon will be introduced with the 1968 model year.

Baker also reported that Toyota will introduce a completely new car—Corolla—next Spring which will be slightly smaller than the Corona and carry a lower price tag.

A 'Big Store'

The Westlake Auto Show, which this week could be looked at as the biggest store in town, might provide the biggest shopping experience of a lifetime to the buyer of a '68 car.

The auto show annually attracts varying groups of people who approach it from many points of view.

Most-prevalent two groups are those, usually women, who might start to look at the exhibits as though they were new fashions, and those, mostly men, who look for engineering refinements, mechanical changes and details of engine and transmission performance.

The performance - sophisticated group grows year by year, including more and more women safety-minded about their personal transportation or about the family car's everyday service on school or super-market runs.

LUXURY, ROOMINESS and a six cylinder power plant are the hallmarks of the all-new Toyota Crown sedan. This craps four-door compact features a 2300 cc 6-cylinder overhead cam power plant with seven main bearings and front wheel disc brakes as standard equipment. Among the 37 luxury "extras" featured as standard equipment are front reclining bucket seats.

Individuality Peak Reached By Chevrolet

A new peak in individuality among Chevrolet's six car lines is reached for 1968, Bob Iseman, general manager of Gateway Chevrolet said this week.

"Each member of our automotive 'family' has a distinct pace-setting personality with features that fully span its market," Iseman said. "This matches the growing customer desire for one-of-a-kind cars built in mass production."

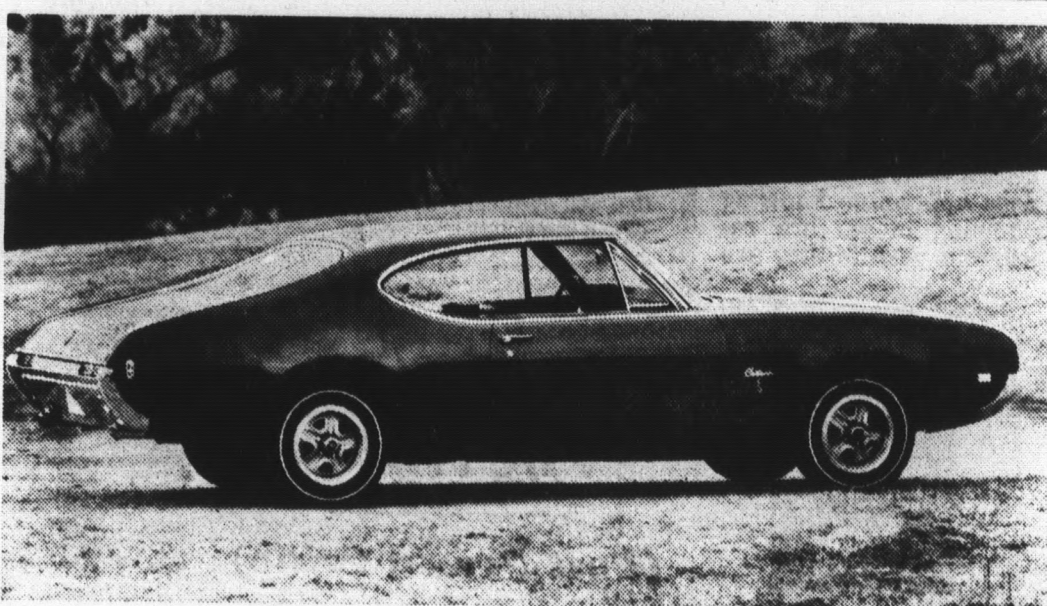

All new advance design bodies for Chevelle, Chevy II and Corvete, with introduction of two wheelbases within the Chevelle line.

A longer, more luxurious regular Chevrolet, new sportiness for Camaro and continued stress on the special features offered only by Corvair.

Important safety improvements, exhaust emission controls, and anti-theft provisions are standard equipment on all models.

DRAMATICALLY new and different is the 1968 Corvete by Chevrolet. The revolutionary coupe roof design includes removable panels and rear window for open-air driving. The Mako Shark-bred Corvete boasts of longer, lower aerodynamic lines that are enhanced by a graceful sloping hood and retractable headlamps. Grille, rear deck and recessed taillights are all new.

FOR 1968, Oldsmobile has introduced a new Cutlass "S" coupe to augment its gains in the youth market. It's available in a hardtop (show above), pillar coupe or convertible body style, and may be customized through use of any of 12 engine-transmission combinations.

New Power Train Concept For Oldsmobile Offerings

Howard Oldsmobile of Burlingame will exhibit its 1968 cars — including the brand new Cutlass "S" Coupe — at the Westlake Auto show, November 9-11, at the Westlake Shopping Center.

Youthfully styled, agile in performance and offered with a selection of 12 engine-transmission combinations, the "S" Coupe is being counted on by Oldsmobile to further strengthen the division's recent gains in the important youth market.

Fashioned from 2-door models in the 1968 Cutlass series, the new Oldsmobile entry is available in either a pillar coupe, hardtop coupe or a convertible body style.

De luxe interior trim and special exterior ornamentation are standard, while dual exhausts, a wood grained steering wheel and rally-type handling components are among the new car's options. Bucket seats, standard on the convertible model, are optional on the closed coupes.

In addition to its exciting new "S" Coupe, Oldsmobile also will be exhibiting the front wheel drive Toronado, representative models from its line-up of 60's and 90's, and several entries from the F-85, Cutlass, Cutlass Supreme, 4-4-2 and Vista Cruiser series.
